

TWO KILLED IN COUNTY ACCIDENTS

Relief Sent To Tornado Stricken Georgia Sections

DEATH TOLL 51; INJURED ABOVE 400

And Other Necessities
Are Distributed Today

RIVERS ARE FALLING

All Levees Now Intact Will Hold Up If Water Recedes Within Few Days

By United Press
DISTRIBUTION of tents, cots, clothing, food and other necessities to tornado-stricken sections of central and eastern Georgia began today when national and state Red Cross workers, municipal authorities and convict laborers joined forces to assist 1,000 homeless refugees in the villages of Statesboro, Metter and Cochran. Belated reports received late yesterday raised the death toll to 51 and the injured to 400, more than 100 of which still were in hospitals. Property damage caused by the two tornadoes which struck the areas late Thursday could not be estimated, authorities said.

Meanwhile residents of the central Mississippi valley saw menacing flood waters receding, to end for another year the strain of worried attention to battered levees.

The river was falling steadily from Keokuk, Ia., to Cape Girardeau, Mo., and authorities throughout the district were confident all levees now intact would hold if the water recedes before the dikes become too water-logged.

The only levee break yesterday was at Murphyboro, Ill., where six and one-half square miles of wheat fields were inundated. Residents of the few homes in the district moved out with their most-prized valuables when the break was forecast.

Slightly higher stages at Chester, Cairo, Cape Girardeau and other southern Illinois and Missouri points will cause no floods of serious consequence, officials said.

SPOTLIGHT FACTORY SOLD TO L. A. FIRM

Purchase of the spotlight business of Charles Kaufmann and Son, Inc., of Santa Ana, by the S. and M. Lamp company, Los Angeles, was announced today by Charles Kaufmann.

The deal does not include the Santa Ana plant or equipment, the patents and business alone being sold.

Kaufmann said today that his company would continue to manufacture tow lights.

The local plant made its Silver-beam line of spotlights for more than 14 years, the products enjoying world-wide sale.

Kaufmann said that he was unable at present to reveal his company's future plans.

PUBLISHER DIES

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—(UP)—William A. Campbell, 85, former publisher of Lima, Ohio, Republic-Gazette and the Enid, Oklahoma, News, died in his home here last night after an illness of a few days. Funeral services will be held tomorrow.

It's the old check book that makes a man appreciate the drawing power of his wife.

Two Chicago Gangsters Meet Death

CHICAGO, April 29.—(UP)—Chicago's south side beer war, from which has emerged such gangster overlords as the once powerful Johnny Torrio, "Polack Joe" Saltis and "Scarface" Al Capone, was renewed today with the killing of two gangsters.

Enrico Tony Duini, 42, saloonkeeper, was shot to death in his automobile five hours after he had boasted to his wife that he escaped a gang of rival gunmen. Frank Degraza, a business associate, told police Duini knew he had been marked for death.

"Benny" Butler, racketeer and asserted gunman for the Station-McGovern gang, was slain by detectives after a running gun-battle between rival gunmen on the south side. Butler refused to surrender and opened fire on the detectives. He died instantly.

COUNTY TAXES DELINQUENT AT 5 P. M. TODAY

County Collector Lamb and Force Prepared to Take In Millions

DOLLARS rolled uphill today in Santa Ana. That's what it seemed like to hundreds of Orange county tax payers who finally persuaded a considerable number of the silver discs, or their equivalent, to "make the grade" and slide under the window gratings at the office of County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb.

All these dollars which failed to get to the top of the hill at 5 p.m. turned around and rolled back again for that, was the deadline on tax payments. But they will return. And, unlike rolling stones, will gather a little "moss" before they approach the window again. For delinquent taxes must be accompanied by a small "bonus" before they can be paid.

It will take Lamb and his deputies the better part of a week to dig their way out from under the loads of money that were dropped on them today in the second annual tax payment. When they get the coin stacked, counted and credited to taxpayers it is expected that the final total of tax payments from the first and second installments and personal property collections will be over $7,000,000.

Los Angeles To Albuquerque Air Line Opens Soon

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—(UP)—Preparatory to opening through service to Kansas City, June 1, passenger planes of the Western Air Express will begin operating to Albuquerque on or before May 15. It was announced here today.

Giant 14-passenger tri-motored Fokker crafts with a cruising speed of 125 miles an hour will be used on the line and the trip from Los Angeles to Albuquerque will be made in six hours. One stop will be made at Kingman, Ariz.

The trip from here to Kansas City will be made in 12 hours. Tentative plans of the through line call for stops at Kingman, Albuquerque, Amarillo, Wichita and Kansas City.

785 CREDITORS OF SKIDMORE TO GATHER HERE ON TUESDAY

Seven hundred and eighty-five people with claims against the property of Joe Skidmore, Laguna Beach business man, will be eligible to attend the first meeting of creditors, to be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow in the council chamber of the Santa Ana city hall. B. E. Tarver, referee in bankruptcy, announced today.

The alleged indebtedness amounts to approximately $300,000 while Skidmore is said to claim that assets will total $500,000. The report of appraisers in the matter has not yet been filed, Tarver said.

Appointment of a trustee and allowing of certain claims will be part of tomorrow's business. The hearing will be an order to show cause why the holders of certain declarations of trust should not be given an order authorizing them to foreclose, according to Tarver.

COOLIDGE PEACE STAND SCORED IN SANTA ANA PASTOR'S SERMON

CLAIMS GIBSON PLAYING INTO BRITISH HANDS

Naval Committee Head Takes Rap at Proposal For Disarmament

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(UP)—Chairman Fred Britten of the house naval affairs committee issued a statement today declaring Ambassador Hugh Gibson had twice within 10 days played directly into the hands of British and French diplomats by making disarmament proposals.

Britten said Gibson's suggestion that trained army reserves should not be included in computing the military strength of a nation was equivalent to agreeing that navy vessels in reserve but ready to fight should not be included in establishing the naval strength of a nation.

"This is the second time within ten days that Gibson has played directly into the hands of British and French diplomacy. The first was his proposal to accept the British category theory for measuring the naval strength of the five leading powers instead of by global tonnage as was the case in the Washington conference," Britten said.

"Both of Gibson's proposals should be very effective in the coming British elections although neither has the slightest chance of acceptance by the League of Nations disarmament preparatory commission for many years to come, if at all."

"It must not be forgotten that the secret Anglo-French treaty of 1923, which created a storm of disapproval throughout America and England because it was inimical to the best interest of the United States, contained the very clause now being sponsored by the American ambassador."

Two years ago the war department effectively objected to a proposal to exclude trained army reserves from military calculations because it made a farce of a serious subject, the statement said.

SENATE COMMITTEE BACKS NOMINATIONS

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(UP)—Nominations of 10 judges, including the nominations of Curtis D. Wilbur to be a circuit judge in California and Irvine L. Lenroot to be an associate justice of the U. S. court of customs and patents appeals, were approved today by the senate judiciary committee.

The committee also voted favorably on the nominations of four district judges in New York.

THREE CONVICTS IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—(UP)—Three San Quentin convicts, Lynn Keith, 29; Jack Foster, 27, and William B. Miller, 33, a Negro, were to be arraigned in municipal court today on five counts of robbery.

The men are serving seven years to life for a recent San Diego bank holdup. Los Angeles police claim they have connected them with six local bank robberies and a pay-roll holdup.

SENATOR JONES WILL GO AFTER WET 'TOURISTS'

Author of Enforcement Law Seeks Prosecution Of Amateur Smuggler

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(UP)—The tourist who would return to the United States after a visit to a non-tourist country with a bottle or two of smuggled liquor packed away in his baggage is the next target of Sen. Wesley Jones, Republican, Washington, author of the most recent enforcement measure which bears his name.

In an announcement last night Senator Jones said he would take up with the treasury department the question of prosecution of such persons under the Jones-Stalker act—better known as the Jones law.

"I understand that it is the practice of the department at present to exact a penalty or fine of $5 a bottle of tourists who attempt to smuggle whiskey into this country," Jones said. "I see no reason why such violations of the 18th amendment should not be subject to prosecution under the bill of which I am one of the authors."

Jones indicated he would approach the treasury department this week on the subject.

A few hours previous to Jones' announcement, Bishop James Cannon Jr., in a letter to Representative La Guardia, Republican, New York, answered the latter's cabled query as to why he returned to this country after a tour of Europe on a "wet" ship. In the letter Bishop Cannon advocated a new law to enforce prohibition on American ships. This particular phase of the prohibition question was brought up by the recent decision of owners of the American liner Leviathan to maintain sale of liquor while on the high seas.

Bishop Cannon, after explaining he chose to sail aboard the Olympic, a British vessel having alcoholics for beverage purposes because of such considerations as "speed, safety, date of sailing, date of landing, etc.," he said:

"But I do think the law of the country should follow the flag of the country. If the owners of vessels, or any other property, claim the protection of the American flag—that is, the government—they are, I think, under moral obligation to accept and obey the laws of that government."

PORTLAND PROMISED FAST TRAIN SERVICE

PORTLAND, Ore., April 29.—(UP)—Train service between Portland and Chicago as fast as any now in operation from the coast and one hour and 45 minutes faster than the new trains promised by the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Milwaukee roads, has been promised today by the Union Pacific.

The Union Pacific announced through Carl B. Gray, president, that beginning June 9, the "Portland Limited," eastbound, will make the run between Portland and Chicago in 61 hours and 15 minutes, which is the same time the fast trains run between San Francisco, Los Angeles and Chicago.

The Union Pacific's fast train, however, will not be an extra fare train as are those from the California points.

DEBENTURE TO BE DEFEATED BY SENATORS

Poll Shows 53 Against, With But 38 Favoring Its Acceptance

WASHINGTON, April 29.—(UP)—The senate lines up 53 to 38 against the debenture farm relief plan to which President Hoover is so strongly opposed, it was revealed in a private poll today as hot debate over the issue got under way in the upper house of congress.

The poll shows 45 Republicans and eight Democrats against the tariff bounty provision; 29 Democrats against the tariff bounty provision, 29 Democrats and nine Republicans in favor of it, three senators doubtful and one absent. It shows conclusively that while the dispute over Mr. Hoover's contest with the senate is close, it is not close enough to be very doubtful.

The figures are known to the president and the Democrats who both are exerting extraordinary efforts to swing wavering votes to their respective sides before the vote is taken probably next Thursday. Mr. Hoover has called many of the formerly doubtful ones to the White House. A dinner was held last week for two senators who are in the doubtful list on the measure but neither senator, it is learned, has since given evidence of a desire to vote with the administration.

Seldom since the League of Nations fight in the senate has such pressure been exerted, either on the side of the White House or on the part of the opposition in the senate. Senators have concluded Mr. Hoover is vitally interested in the defeat of the debenture plan.

ENDURANCE RECORD SET BY AIRPLANE

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—(UP)—A new world's record endurance glide for a motorized airplane was set at the Grand Central airport in Glendale yesterday, when Jack Reid, former navy flyer, kept his craft in the air 9 minutes and 20 seconds after he stopped the motor at a height of 5,000 feet.

His attempt was timed by Joe Nikrent, Southern California timer for the National Aeronautical association, who said he would recommend that the glide be given official recognition. Reid flew a maximum safety monoplane.

WOMAN FINED FOR MAILING BOOKLET

BROOKLYN, April 29.—(UP)—Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett was fined $300 today by Federal Judge Warren E. Burrows for sending her pamphlet, "The Sex Side of Life," through the mails.

Judge Burrows paroled Mrs. Dennett to the custody of her attorney Morris Ernst, until tomorrow afternoon at 2 p.m. when papers in an appeal from the conviction are to be filed.

13 SIGN FOR NEW BUENA PARK POST

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29.—(UP)—Thirteen firemen were suffering today from after effects of smoke poisoning as a result of fighting an obstinate fire that raged three hours Sunday in the Market street shopping district. Damage was tentatively set at $250,000, the larger part being for leather stock in a shoe store where the flames broke out. Two neighboring stores, a jewelry shop and a wearing apparel establishment, were also damaged.

Perry Schrock Decries Pleas For Big Army

Congregational Minister in Pulpit Talk Says Train For Peace Now

"A friendly enemy of peace?" That was the question that was discussed by Perry Frederick Schrock, in the First Congregational church, last night. The Rev. Mr. Schrock said that the topic was suggested to him by the picture which was shown at the service last evening, "Friendly Enemies," and by a recent magazine article by Coolidge, entitled "Promoting Peace Through Preparation for Defense."

"A friendly enemy," said the pastor, "is one who really is a friend at heart of a person, or a people, or a cause but whose attitude and actions tend to defeat friendship with the people or progress for a cause." The most important question before the world today is that of international peace—the abolition of war. There is no doubt that Mr. Coolidge, sincerely desires the accomplishment of peace. But his attitude is one that is bound to hinder the progress of peace. I am a loyal Congregationalist, but this article by Mr. Coolidge makes me profoundly grateful that he did not "choose to run in 1928." I am glad that instead of the Congregationalist Coolidge we have the Quaker Hoover in the White House at the present time.

"Mr. Coolidge argues for a large military force on the assumption that fear is the only motive that makes for peace. According to his theory one nation keeps from plundering other nations simply because the other nation is armed. Fear of the fighting power of the other nation promotes peace. Therefore we spend annually upon our army and navy about $670,000,000 as our contribution to the cause of peace. Mr. Coolidge thinks that this keeps other nations from attacking us and that the armies and navies of the other nations keep us from attacking them. Permit me to quote Mr. Coolidge. 'I very strongly suspect that if there were but one nation in the world supplied with an army and a navy, and to make the supposition as strong as possible, if that nation were our own, it would not be long before the other nations had been overrun. It seems to me that it is almost a moral certainty that we should find some excuse for taking that action. But when we know that other nations have a considerable ability to defend themselves, it is human nature for us to regard them with a more wholesome respect and be more careful about violating their rights.'

"Is this true? Does our nation, and the other civilized nations, refrain from plundering and killing simply because we are prevented by the armed forces of the other nations? Have we refrained from killing off the Mexican people and taking the rich resources of that wonderful land simply because we are afraid of the Mexican army? I cannot think so. I have more confidence in the existence of a real national character."

Facial Beauty Ignored By Paris Artists

PARIS, April 29.—(UP)—Facial beauty in artists models no longer is considered an attribute among the painters in Montparnasse, who have gone in for nude female ugliness in their search for character.

Beautiful models have chance of finding positions among the painters of the artists colony, according to the head of an employment agency which specializes in the commodity.

Beautiful eyes, chiselled noses and delicately cut mouths no longer have any appeal to the artists who see beauty only in the ugliness of the heavy-visaged ladies, mostly of the Nordic type. Broad brows have replaced the chic forehead, and forceful jaws, square and determined, have succeeded delicate chins.

3 MEN KILLED WHEN AIRPLANE CATCHES AFIRE

Ship Crashes to Ground in Early Morning Hours After Joy Ride

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—(UP)—Three young men who left a gay Hollywood party for an early morning flight, laughed and waved in reckless abandon as their plane careened toward a flaming death as they had pictured as the climax of a screen thriller.

The trio left Rogers Airport at 5:30 a. m. Sunday. Two hours later their charred bodies were taken from the fire-gutted plane in an alfalfa field eight miles away.

The night watchman at Rogers field said the youths apparently had been drinking and that he pleaded with them to stay on the ground. A little group of Japanese farmers, up long before the sun, were the only witnesses to the death plunge.

The youths were William H. Orvatt, Jr., 22-year-old son of a Falmouth, Mass., theatrical producer and nephew of Charles Murray, screen comedian; Ray Scott, 25-year-old scenario writer and Mack Fluker, 25, of New Orleans, former Tulane university football player.

The Japanese farmers said the plane came out of the fog suddenly about 7:30 a. m., the motor

FLEET READY FOR ANNUAL INSPECTION

SAN PEDRO, April 29.—(UP)—Dreadnaughts of the Pacific fleet lay at anchor in the outer harbor here today, making ready for annual inspection which will be held this week.

All vessels fired long range practice last week, beginning with their heavy forward batteries and five-inch turrets. According to reports of the firing, some exceptionally fine records were made.

MURDERER TO MEET WIDOW OF VICTIM

PASADENA, April 29.—(UP)—Authorities expected today to bring John L. Howard, confessed murderer, face to face with Mrs. Pearl Cooley, widow of the man he beat to death with a hammer last week.

From the meeting, police hoped to find some motive, other than a drunken argument, in the slaying of Victor Cooley.

Howard has admitted that he made love to Mrs. Cooley, who was estranged from her husband, but has insisted that a minor argument over drinking led to the murder.

Yesterday, Howard made a supplemental statement to his original admission of the crime. Officials refused to make the new statement public.

FOUR PEOPLE INJURED IN FIVE MISHAPS

Two Los Angeles Men Lose Lives; One Dying When Auto Crashes In Tree

Twenty Year Old Youth Dies In Hospital—No One From S. A. Hurt

TWO DEATHS were chalked up on the records of traffic accidents occurring in the vicinity of Santa Ana Saturday and Sunday, when a man identified as Carol McManus of Los Angeles, was instantly killed when the car in which he was riding crashed into a tree in Brea canyon Saturday, and Bert A. Aldrich, also of Los Angeles died about 4:30 Sunday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained an hour previously when the motorcycle he was riding was struck by another motorcycle near Newport. Other injuries resulting from a series of five crashes reported over the week end involved four persons, most of whom were only slightly hurt.

The motorcycle wreck, according to the story told this morning by Pat Skeggs, 1011 West Second street, occurred on an abandoned road just north of the track where motorcycle races were being held yesterday near Newport. Skeggs, who is a Santa Ana fireman, participated in the races yesterday, but said the accident involved two of the spectators who were running their machines up and down the old road between races and that Aldrich started across the road, evidently not noticing the approach of the motorcycle that hit him, which according to spectators was travelling at about 50 miles an hour.

The force of the collision twisted Aldrich's machine into a U. persons who saw the wreck stated, and the driver of the motorbike that struck Aldrich, whose identity has not yet been ascertained by authorities, was hurled into the air, alighting apparently not badly hurt, many feet from the scene of the crash.

Aldrich, who was 20 years old, was rushed to the Newport hospital in the Newport police ambulance. Dr. Grundy, who attended the injured man said this morning that the only apparent injuries consisted of mangled left leg and injuries to the pelvis.

Both machines were wrecked in the collision.

FOREIGN VETS' CHARTER LIST IS ANNOUNCED

Organization of a Santa Ana camp of Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States is expected to be effected tomorrow night at a meeting to be held in the city council chambers, Third and Main streets, at 8 o'clock, following a rally at 7:30 in the Santa Ana hotel. From the hotel the men will march to the city hall in a body led by the drum corps of Calumet camp, U. S. W. V.

Formation of a Santa Ana camp of Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., which is a gold stripe organization, is expected to answer a well defined need in this city. Frank T. Sturges, past national commander-in-chief of the order, will be principal speaker. He will be remembered as the man selected by ex-President Calvin Coolidge to present the Armistice day address in Arlington.

William Murphy, state commander of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, and Charles W. Kincaid, past commander of Calumet camp, U. S. W. V., form the organizing committee and are anxious to add new names to the charter.

Those already signed for membership include Arvid E. Gilmont, Murray Vandermast, William Pemitting, Hardin Reed, O. Heaton, C. E. Dixon, A. F. Moulton, John H. Shaw, Sid Cormack, Forrest Guy, George Area, Charles I. Reagan, W. R. DuBois, Charles J. Stack, E. H. Abernathy, Charles A. Lindquist, H. A. Reuter, Robert Hopkins, Paul Corad, Santa Ana; William Kelsey, C. C. Graham and Sherman Glaze, Garden Grove; H. G. Miller, O. J. Staubro, Anaheim; Floyd A. Turner, Tustin; L. O. Hauselman, F. M. Slavens, Pio Menegazzo, L. B. Nelson, C. E. Camm, H. F. Brittenhof, D. T. Nickolson, G. T. Calhoun and Glen Benton, Orange.

PLANE IS FORCED DOWN IN CANYON

An airplane carrying Ruth Miller, movie actress, from March field, Riverside, to Los Angeles, was forced down in Santa Ana canyon yesterday morning, according to State Traffic Officers Barnhill and Buer, when the oil pump on the plane quit functioning and the motor began to freeze.

The forced landing was made just this side of Sulphur Slide in a wild oats field near the intake of the irrigation canal, and the plane, a two-passenger Travelair biplane, was unable to take off after the pump had been repaired. The pilot was in the employ of the Wilson Aircraft corporation, of Los Angeles.

THREE DEGREES EXEMPLIFIED IN S. A. CEREMONY

Fifty candidates from different points in the Southland today had returned to their homes as full-fledged Knights of Columbus, following the exemplification of the first, second and third degrees, yesterday, in the Santa Ana K. C. hall, on East Fourth street.

The day's ceremonies began with the 8 o'clock mass in St. Ann's Catholic church, with the Rev. P. A. Connelly officiating. Holy Communion was received by the Knights in a body and a well-arranged musical program was presented by the choir. Breakfast was served by members of St. Ann's Altar society and was followed at 10:30 by exemplification of first degree work.

During the mid-day recess many Santa Ana Knights entertained out-of-town guests in their homes, including Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Murphy, who welcomed Los Angeles guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ashen, who greeted members of the third degree team.

The afternoon program opened with the second degree work, with the Whittier team in charge. Their degree work was presented by Edward Jones, of San Francisco, assisted by Robert MacKenzie, state treasurer; William Schisel, state deputy; Patrick Cooney, of Hollywood; Dr. F. A. Kays, of Santa Ana, and others.

While this team was in progress, women accompanying the various delegations were entertained in the home of the Misses Ann and Gretchen Lieberman, 612 French street, with Mrs. V. A. Rossiter and Mrs. Charles Birchard as co-hostesses.

Evening ceremonies began with a banquet, served in the American Legion hall by Capistrano Institute Y. L. L., under the direction of Mrs. Clyde Ashen, assisted by Mrs. J. P. Murphy and others.

General singing of "America," with Harry Garstang at the piano and Maurice Phillips leading, was followed by the invocation, by the Rev. Father Connelly, chaplain of Santa Ana council, Knights of Columbus. Musical number were presented at intervals by Ralph Zaiser and Joe Healy, of San Bernardino.

Clyde Ashen, at the head of the host council, acted as toastmaster and presented Charles H. Chapman, supervisor of the first district, who welcomed the visiting Knights to the city. George Raymer, chamber of commerce secretary, with an ever-ready thought for the city's business interests, urged the Knights to hold an annual third degree exemplification as a means of introducing out-of-town Knights to the charms of Santa Ana.

Rev. Sullivan Speaker Edward Jones, of San Francisco, in his brief talk, urged the new members to remember the work they had witnessed during the ceremonies as an aid to better citizenship and better Christianity. Robert MacKenzie, district deputy, gave a resume of his activities during the year, after which the Rev. Joseph Sullivan pointed out the splendid work accomplished by the Knights in California and urging their support of a movement to correct certain of the state's penal laws pertaining to the taxation of parochial and private schools.

Those directly responsible for the success of the day included Clyde Ashen, district deputy; J. Ogden Markel, chairman; Dr. V. A. Rossiter, Urban J. Engelman, Henry Hodges and George Ravenkamp.

Police News

Dale J. Hollingworth, 31, oil worker, who lives at 4240 1/2 Whittier boulevard, Los Angeles, was locked up in the county jail at 2 o'clock this morning on charges of disturbing the peace. The arrest was made by Deputies Steward, Fuller, Scudder and Buckles.

Officer Cozad arrested M. Saldivar yesterday afternoon on a charge of driving drunk. Saldivar, who is a laborer, is 23 years old and lives at 1027 Logan street.

Motorcycle Officer Hershey was called to the vicinity of Seventeenth and Main streets shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday morning to quiet a racket caused by two boys racing a motor on a motorcycle.

A dog with a broken leg, which had crawled under a house at 112 Church street, last night caused police officers to make two trips to the residence. The second trip, made about midnight, resulted in the capture of the dog by Officers Swain and Elower, who ended the animal's suffering by shooting it.

Ernest Barstow, alias Lawrence Bristol, who was wanted by authorities of both Sacramento and Orange county, has waived extradition, according to a message from N. M. Matlock, chief of police of Phoenix, Ariz., received at the office of Sheriff Sam Jernigan, yesterday, and will be brought to Santa Ana to face a bad check charge. Operating under the Bristol name, the man is alleged to have passed three checks on Santa Ana merchants in the amounts of $56.70, $25 and $49.50, March 30 and April 1. He was also wanted by Sacramento police on a similar charge, it is said.

Theft of his billfold, containing $7 and personal papers, was reported to police, Saturday, by Lt. Lysle R. Baas, who lives in the Broadway apartments. A man begging in the neighborhood of Camille and Cypress streets Saturday, was ordered out of the city by Sergeant Adams after a complaint had been made to police headquarters by residents of the vicinity.

State Traffic Officer Jim Cain lodged B. W. Lofgren, 54-year-old painter and paper hanger, of Los Angeles, in jail Sunday afternoon on a drunk charge.

Ed Norton, who was committed to jail December 10 to serve sentences totaling 275 days on charges of breaking glass on the highway and possession of liquor, obtained his release this morning by paying $9, the balance due on a fine which had been levied as an alternative to going to jail.

A charge of defrauding an inn keeper was the cause of the arrest, Saturday afternoon, of G. A. Baker, who lived in the Glen hotel. Baker, who is 39, was arrested by Officer Wolford.

Arrested shortly after 1 o'clock Sunday morning on a charge of driving drunk, Herbert C. Mansfield, 28-year-old groceryman, of 608 East Chapman, Fullerton, obtained his release later in the day by posting cash bail of $250. The arrest was made by Ray Bradfield and Ernie Sawyer, state traffic officers.

Half of the traffic cases coming before Judge Talbott, Saturday, were for overtime parking. On this count Stuart Cunliff and E. C. Bell each paid fines of $2 and H. B. Coffelt was discharged when it was shown his duties as postman caused him to stay too long in a parking place. Don Crumley, charged with failure to have a registration card in his car, also was discharged when his testimony showed that the card had been stolen and that he had applied for a duplicate. Fines of $2 each were paid by the Foster-Barker Music company and Norman Greenwald on respective charges of leaving a car parked between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m. and driving through signals.

According to A. H. Weil, auctioneer, the matter of another auction has not been decided. He refused to state the price at which Burge held the property.

Approximately 200 persons were present for the auction.

Because the bidders failed to meet the price of the owner, E. D. Burge, the Burge holdings on East First street, consisting of an orange grove, packing plant, pumping plant and large residence, were not sold at the auction held Saturday afternoon on the premises.

According to A. H. Weil, auctioneer, the matter of another auction has not been decided. He refused to state the price at which Burge held the property.

Approximately 200 persons were present for the auction.

The poll shows the farm bloc is split and only 9 Republicans intend to bolt the president while only 8 Democrats thus far have declined to obey the party whip.

The Old Colony Finance company today brought suit against H. C. Block, H. S. McGregor, R. L. Augustus and Paul Frahm, seeking judgment for $886.17, alleged to be due as the result of an automobile transaction. According to the complaint, the defendants were to make payments to the plaintiff when the machines were disposed of. The complaint alleged that the cars had been sold but that certain payments had not been made.

Two $30 fines were handed out on drunk charges in the court of Justice Kenneth Morrison this morning, the recipients being Clarence King, 60, mining engineer and rancher, who lives on route 3, Santa Ana, and Jose Ortiz, 27, laborer, a resident of Logan street.

King was arrested in Garden Grove, last night, by Deputies Humiston and Mozley, and Ortiz was taken into custody by Constable Elliott and Deputy Humiston. Both men were committed to jail on failure to pay their fines.

Half of the traffic cases coming before Judge Talbott, Saturday, were for overtime parking. On this count Stuart Cunliff and E. C. Bell each paid fines of $2 and H. B. Coffelt was discharged when it was shown his duties as postman caused him to stay too long in a parking place. Don Crumley, charged with failure to have a registration card in his car, also was discharged when his testimony showed that the card had been stolen and that he had applied for a duplicate. Fines of $2 each were paid by the Foster-Barker Music company and Norman Greenwald on respective charges of leaving a car parked between the hours of 2 and 5 a. m. and driving through signals.

Autoist Arrested After Brush With Traffic Officers

State Traffic Officers George Peterkin and Harry Aldrich narrowly escaped a serious crash when, according to the report filed by Peterkin with Capt. H. L. Moehlan, of the state force, he was "forced to maneuver his car all over Corona Del Mar to miss" an autoist who cut in on him.

The man driving the other car, George L. Davidson, of San Ysidro, will appear before Judge Wilson, of Newport Beach, as a result of his encounter with the officers, on a charge of reckless driving.

2 ARE KILLED IN ACCIDENTS OVER WEEKEND

Mary Short, Pomona, formerly Mary McWaters of Santa Ana, today had solved the mystery surrounding the identity of a young man who was killed in an automobile crash in Brea, canyon early Saturday, in which her husband, Donald Short, 19, was seriously injured. Short and the other man were on their way to Santa Ana, where Mrs. Short was visiting her sister, Dora McWaters, when their car failed to round a deceptive curve and crashed into trees at the roadside.

Mrs. Short identified the body as that of Carol McManus, 26, Los Angeles. McManus was best man at the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Short some time ago and had not been seen by either of them for several months until the fatal crash. It is not known which of the two men was driving the car. Records at the court house showed today that McManus had Lois McGimpsey, 18, of Fullerton, had applied for a marriage license here some time ago but that the license never had been claimed.

Mrs. Short was at the home of her sister, Dora McWaters, whose engagement to Everett Lutz, Santa Ana, was announced last Friday, when she received word of the accident. Short suffered a slight skull fracture and was unconscious for a time. He formerly was a member of an orchestra playing at Laguna Beach and is thought to have been intending to go to Los Angeles for an engagement after stopping at Santa Ana. Mrs. Short formerly was employed in the office of the county clerk here.

Mrs. Lura DeShane, 1445 Oak street, Los Angeles, received cuts about the face and head yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock when the car driven by her husband, M. L. DeShane, crashed into a car driven by Franklin G. W. Erreger, when the Erreger car stopped suddenly on the coast highway near El Toro. Mrs. DeShane was taken to the Santa Ana Valley hospital by the Win-bler ambulance, where her injuries were dressed by Dr. Burlew. The DeShane car was badly damaged according to a report made by State Traffic Officer Kelly.

Injuries sustained by Mrs. J. E. Lynch, of San Clemente, Sunday afternoon on the coast highway north of Capistrano when a car driven by D. L. Perrin, 55, 950 Atchison street, Pasadena, struck the car driven by Mr. Lynch, were cared for at Capistrano. The Perrin car was attempting to make a turn and hit the Lynch car near the left front fender.

When a car driven by Mrs. Laura Owens, 1417 Maltman street, Los Angeles, skidded on the coast highway near Crystal Cove yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Owens escaped with minor injuries.

Hal Henderson, 468 South Olive street, Orange, went to sleep while driving about midnight Sunday, and was awakened by his car crashing into a telephone pole.

sputtering and the three men laughing and shouting. The ship evidently had come down in a spin with the motor off, but Scott, the pilot, leveled off and opened the throttle.

Then one of the youths leaned out of the ship and waved and laughed. A moment later the craft nosed over, struck the earth and the carefree young men were engulfed in flames.

Aviation engineers who examined the wreckage said the controls and other mechanical parts seemed to have functioned.

The youths had attended a party, in the apartment of Sayre Dearing, actor. Dearing said they had talked of an airplane picture written by Scott, concerning the death of three aviators in a crash similar to that which was to take their own lives a few hours later.

Before the coming of the oil lamp lighthouses were lit by candles or coal fires. The last of the latter was the lighthouse at St. Bees, where a coal light burned until 1822.

A gust of wind at 81 miles an hour registered at Croydon recently was the highest wind velocity ever noted in or near London.

ANNOUNCING The Celebration of Our FIRST ANNIVERSARY IN SANTA

OUTDOOR TWIN TRACTOR PLANE BEST OF CLASS

By MERRILL HAMBURG
Secretary, Airplane Model League of America

Once you build the twin tractor, described below, you may have some questions about it. Let Mr. Hamburg answer them, through the League's service department. Send the questions, with a stamp for reply, to the A. M. L. A., American Boy Building, Second and Lafayette Boulevards, Detroit. You'll get your help!

(Copyright, 1929, by the American Boy Magazine, Detroit.)
Spring days are here, and the weather is right for outdoor airplane model trials. Perhaps Santa Ana members of the A. M. L. A., sponsored in this territory by the Register and 20-30 club, have already built themselves the king of outdoor ships, the outdoor twin tractor. It was described in this paper three weeks ago today, and scores of boys have found it to be the best outdoor ship yet devised.

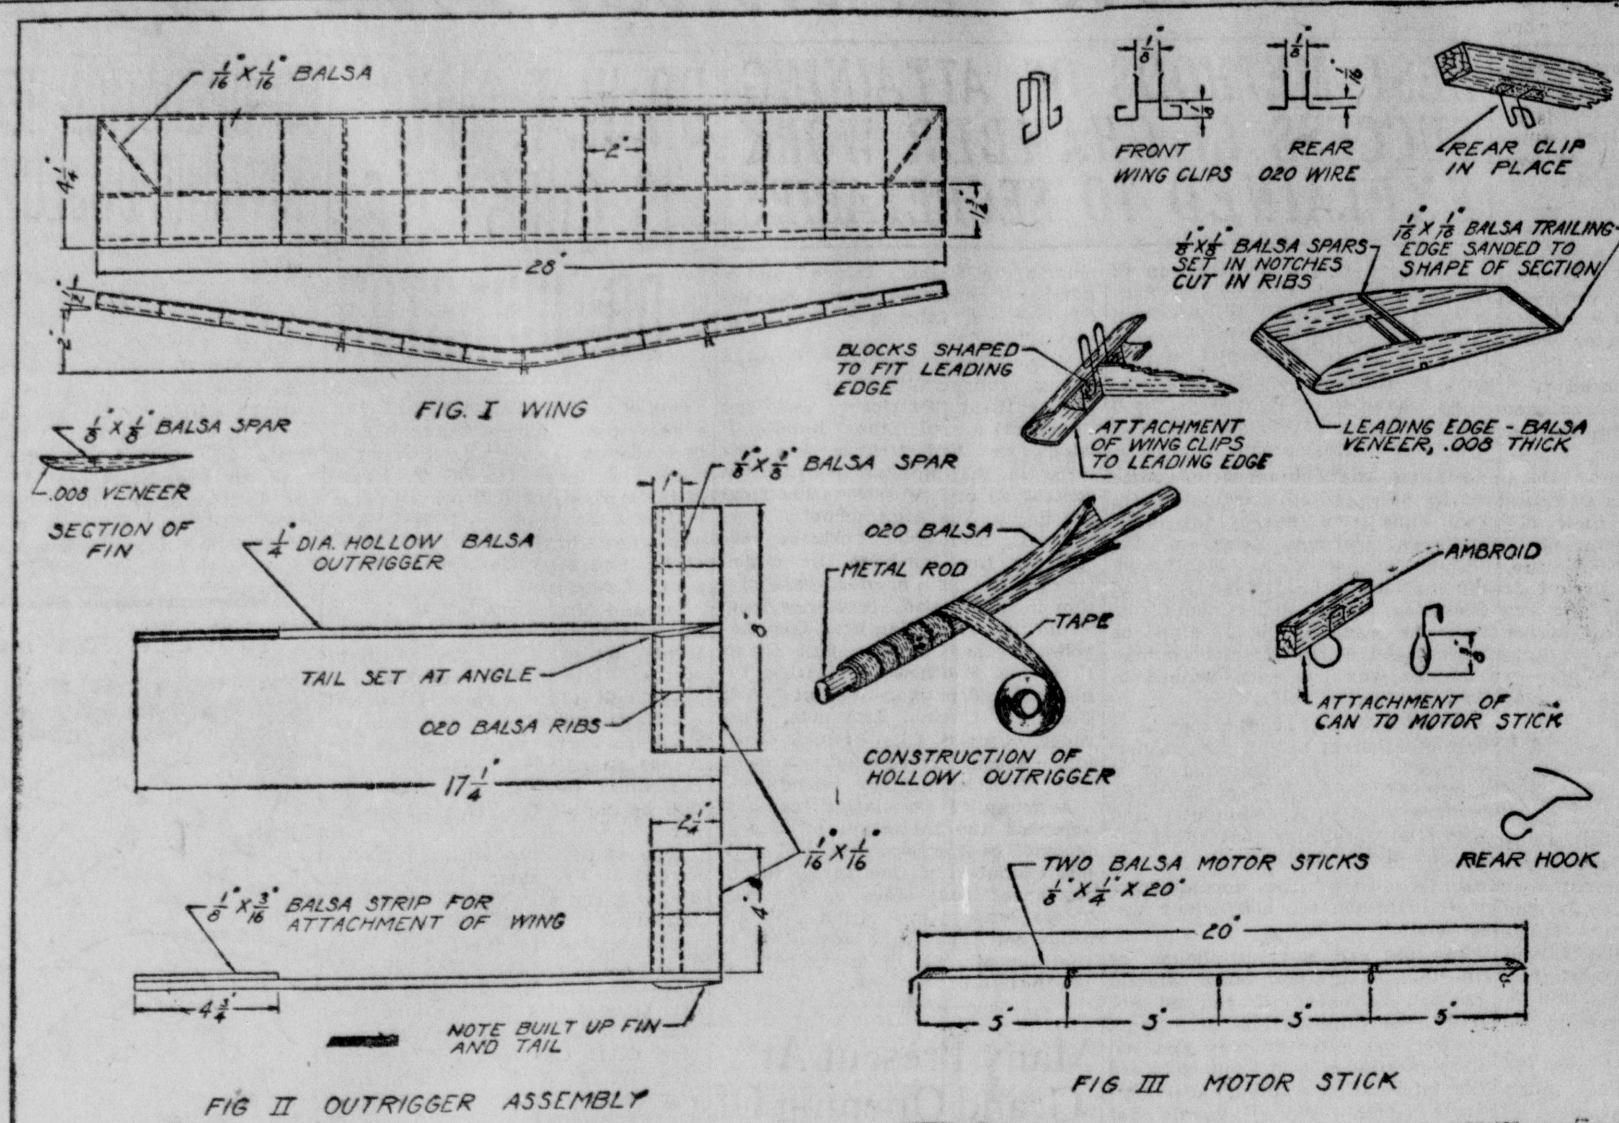

Today I'm going to tell you about the crown prince of outdoor models, however. It's a twin tractor—a ship built on lines unique in championship model work. Examine the picture of its closely-note that the wing, rather than fuselage or motor sticks, is the chief member.

Study the drawings closely, too, before starting work.

Special Material Kit
The league has prepared a special kit of materials for this ship—you can get it by sending $2.25 in check or money order to the Supply Department, A. M. L. A., American Boy Building, Second and Lafayette Boulevards, Detroit, Michigan. You'll get with it the A. M. L. A. Manual so valuable to every model builder in making his ships. The kits have been ordered by Henry's Cycle shop, 427 West Fourth street. If you desire to get the materials separately, however, here's what you'll need:

2 balsa propeller blocks, 3-4x1 1/2x11 inches; 2 balsa motor sticks, 1-8x1-4x20 inches; 5 balsa center spars, 1-8x1-4x14 inches; 2 strips balsa for tail parts and trailing edges, 1-16x14 inches; 15 flat balsa ribs; 1 strip balsa for tail boom, 1-16x17 1/4 inches; 2 balsa leading edge strips, 1-32x1x14 inches; 1 balsa strip, 1-8x3x16x5 inches; 4 drams ambroid; 4 drams banana oil; 1 set Japanese tissue, 21x31 inches; 3 rubber bands; 7-foot motor, 3-16 inch flat rubber; 6 wing clips, 6 fans, 2 propeller shafts, 2 rear hooks, 2 S-hook (all of .020 music wire);

Five of them should be 1-16 inch, the other ten 1-32. The pattern show you where to cut grooves or slots for the two center spars.

Square Wing Tip
Let two of the five heavier ribs form your wing tips, and place the other three where the clips are to be attached. This gives you a square wing tip, which has the advantage of lightness and ease of construction.

Now sand the center spars to size (1-8x1-8 inch), and cut them to 14-inch length. Lay the trailing edge spars (cut from 1-16 inch flat balsa) beside them and mark all together for the ribs, so that they'll correspond precisely. Sand these trailing edge spars down until they taper off at the rear, forming the end of the airfoil section as well as its rear braces.

Assemble each half of the wing separately. Set the ribs on the bottom center spar and ambroid them in place. Lay them on your work table, straighten the ribs and ambroid the top spar into place, following it with the trailing edge spar.

Next, the leading edge. Sand a flat strip down to extreme thinness—.008 inch, about twice as heavy as a sheet of bond paper, is approximately right. Paint the front tips of the ribs lightly with ambroid, and bend the leading edge to fit them. Do this very carefully, or the flat piece will crack. If you are cautious, however, you can do the job well without treating the wood to make it pliable. The Manual tells you of the other method—boiling thin balsa, bending it around a form and taping it in place until it hardens.

Stronger But Heavier
Some builders prefer a solid leading edge. This is stronger, but adds extra weight.

Now put in the two diagonal tip braces shown in Figure 1. These are necessary because the relatively weak rear tips are liable to be knocked about when a ship makes a landing.

To join the two halves of the wing, lay one half flat on the table and butt-joint the center rib to the ends of its spars. Do the same with the other half, but place the outer end on a block 4 inches high. Thus you'll give the completed wing exactly the right dihedral angle. You'll have to do a bit of nice fitting in this part of the job, but it won't be hard.

Now attach the wing clips, as shown in Figure 1 and in the drawings to its right. Note that, for the three front clips, you must ambroid into the leading edge small solid pieces of balsa. There will be six of these, one on each side of the three heavier ribs. Ambroid holds the clips in place. The three rear clips are attached to the bottom of the lower center spar.

Finally, the covering. Japanese Imperial tissue paper is the material, and banana oil the adhesive. It's a good idea to press your paper flat before commencing to fasten it. Start gluing it at the center and work toward the tips, fastening it to one rib at a time and allowing it to dry. Thus you can smooth the paper out perfectly.

Motor Sticks Simple
The motor sticks, shown in Figure III, are simple. Their dimensions are 1-8 x 1-4 x 20 inches; both ends are tapered to cut down weight, and ambroid for additional strength. Ambroid the thrust bearings and rear hooks into place, as shown in the drawing, and attach three cans to each—two fastened on one side, the center can fastened on the other.

Propellers are an easy job to you, by this time. If you need extra instructions, see the A. M. L. A. Manual. Remember that one of them is right handed, the other left—they turn in opposite directions. Their size is 3-4 x 1-1/2 x 11 inches. Each motor is of two strands of 3-16 inch flat rubber.

The work is nearly done now. Better make the "tail boom" or outrigger next. This is a hollow tube made of .020 inch flat balsa—thinner than 1-32 inch, but heavier than the bent leading edge. The sketch shows you the process—first boil or steam the wood, then bend and tape it around a form and allow it to dry. Finally trim it so that the edges fit precisely, ambroid them—and you'll have a lighter and stronger outrigger than a solid piece of the same size would be.

Ambroid a piece 1-8 x 3-16 x 4-3/4 inches to the top of the front end of the outrigger for the center wing clips to grip. Notice that you must reinforce the clips, both here and at the motor stick attachments, by using rubber bands—this because the clips by themselves will not have the necessary strength.

Rudder Half Stabilizer
Both the stabilizer and the rudder, as Figure II indicates, are built up. A section slightly thinner, or flatter, than a true Clark-Y has usually proved most successful. After you've made the wing, these two jobs will be simple. The rudder is simply half the stabilizer—you can

.....asking only for protection from carbon forming oils

A NEW style in motors has swept the automobile industry. High-compression motors, powerful, speedy, economical, add emphasis to the outward beauty of modern cars.

Hupmobile Century sixes and eights are among the most striking this year—and their motors are worthy of the hoods that house them.

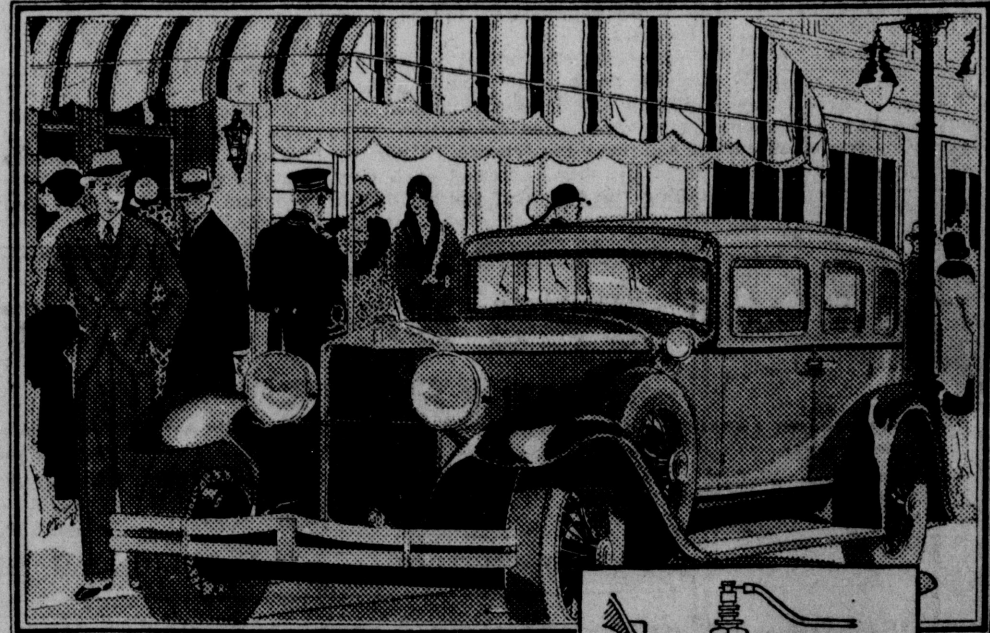

But today every car owner faces a problem. Not a fault in his car—rather a fault in the oil he uses. Many oils form quantities of hard carbon. It is bothersome and has to be removed even from old cars. In high-compression motors it becomes a real danger because pistons almost touch the cylinder head. Where would you put a quarter-inch layer of coke-like carbon?

Hard carbon causes more damage than many of us realize. Chips get under valves holding them open to warp and waste power. Gritty bits grind and chafe through moving engine parts.

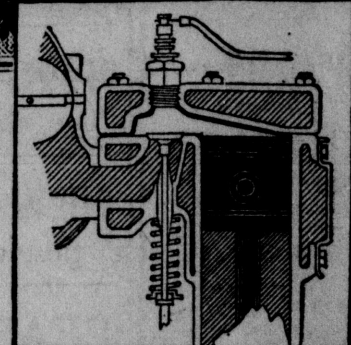

However, there is an answer! Word has gone out among lubrication experts—word about a new motor oil that solves the carbon problem.

Even the costliest oils form more carbon. A sample of this oil, when burned, left more than three times as much as Shell Motor Oil

Your heart leaps a little—such charm in line, color, fittings! This Hupmobile Century eight, seven passenger sedan is a picture indeed Shell Motor Oil actually forms only 1/3 to 1/5 as much carbon as even the most expensive oil you can buy! The little it forms is only soft soot that blows easily away.

The new high-vacuum refining process by which Shell Motor Oil is made produces a finer lubricant, too. One that is remarkably resistant to heat; it holds its body long after ordinary oils break down.

Thus in Shell Motor Oil you get two vital things. First, freedom from hard carbon, secondly a marvelous lubricant. Fill with it regularly.

Famed always for stamina, Hupmobile has more than kept its pace. New Hupmobile motors are high-compression of course—modern engines must be! And high-compression means no room for hard carbon—use an oil that forms none

MRS. ANITA ALEXANDER READS PAPER ON HOOVER CABINET AT LEAGUE WOMAN VOTERS MEET

"The Hoover Cabinet" was the subject of a most interesting paper read at a meeting of the League of Women Voters last week in the social room of the First Methodist church. Mrs. Anita Alexander, in charge of the reference department of the Santa Ana Public Library, author, read it, as follows:

George Washington's Cabinet consisted of four heads of Department: Secretary of State, Secretary of War, Secretary of Treasury, Attorney-General.

He required the written opinions and advice of each member, as did John Adams.

Thomas Jefferson did away with formality, he and his successors calling the members of the Cabinet together when their consideration is needed.

The duties of the members of the U. S. Cabinet composed of the heads of the executive departments is to advise the President on important matters of policy.

They are appointed by the President only subject to confirmation by the Senate. He is not bound to accept their advice and may at any time remove them. He assumes full responsibility and has full control.

It has no legal existence. The only words referring to it in the Constitution are the twenty-six words: "The President may require the opinion in writing of the principal officers in each of the executive departments upon any subject relating to their respective offices."

It meets only on the call of the President.

No records of such meetings are kept, nor are the proceedings officially made known.

There are eight new members and two old.

He has been Mayor of Princeton

He was charged with increasing

Missouri's taxes because of his going about getting better country schools and roads. Despite this criticism President Hoover has stated that his record as a business administrator was the reason for his selection.

As a practical engineer and man of vision himself President Hoover

no doubt considered what the taxes were spent for, and also, doubtless knows how important to the growth of a state good schools and roads

A Quaint Elbow Cushion—Easy to Make

By AMELIA LEAVITT HILL

A PARTICULARLY attractive elbow cushion is made from half a yard of unbleached muslin and an eighth of a yard each of green and white and of red and white checked gingham or percale.

Cut a piece of the muslin 9x13 inches for the front of the cushion and another like it for the back. This will allow for a generous "turn in," as the finished cushion should measure 8x12 inches. Now cut a strip of muslin 41 inches long and three inches wide to use as a side piece connecting front and back.

Join the ends of this firmly together and baste it to the back piece all around, inserting between them a quarter-inch fold of either the green or the red checked material in such a way that when the work is done and is turned right side out, a very narrow line of piping will be visible.

AS a floral design will cover the front of your cushion, first of all baste upon the muslin front an irregularly shaped oval or oblong strip of the green-and-white checked material to represent the ground from which the garden is to spring. This should not be over an inch in width and should be applied upon the muslin foundation about an inch or a little more from the lower edge of the material, after the "turn in" has been counted.

Tulips or wild roses are particularly adapted to a cushion of this kind. Three are to be shown. For roses you will need five heart-shaped pieces of the red checked gingham to serve as petals, and for the tulips three pear-shaped ones.

They should measure 1½ inches long when finished and be wide in proportion.

BEGIN with the middle flower in the exact center of the pillow at the distance from the edge equal to that between the opposite edge and the "ground."

Pin a petal here, and group the others symmetrically about it, not sewing any until you have the correct arrangement. The other two blossoms should exactly resemble the first and should be at just the same distance from it on different sides, but a little lower down.

When everything is in place, applique each piece to the foundation, connecting each blossom with the "ground" with a narrow band of the green material by way of a stem. Then attach the front to the side piece just as you did the back, not forgetting the piping, and sew the whole up on the machine for greater security.

This is a cushion that even a woman not particularly skilled with the needle can make. And when the pieces are carefully cut and as carefully joined together, the pillow has a tailored appearance that commends it to any room in the house. Of course, the covering used can be chosen to harmonize with the decorative scheme of any room.

"Too Busy" Women

By ALLENE SUMNER

THE "whole crowd" is "down on" Nancy. There seem to be various reasons. Foremost, it seems that Nancy's plea of "too busy" to do this and do that, far from earning the sympathy and co-operation of the crowd, as it once did, is now only the signal for raucous outbursts.

It all reminds me that, in any circle, we accept the "too busy" explanation of our friends for all their omissions of personal appearance and action just about so long, then a personal defense of our own pride crops out. Most of us have plenty to do.

After all, perhaps we're "busy," too; perhaps it's just as hard for us to dash home from the office, get into our copper georgette, and hurry back downtown to the club for dinner with "the girls" as it is for Nancy. Perhaps it's just as hard for us to take the chairmanship of the modern drama committee, "with all our other work," as it is for Nancy, but we manage to do it, anyway.

Somehow, if there's one thing the human race won't tolerate too long, it's the assumption of someone else that he or she is the only person in the world who is really living a thrillingly absorbing abundant life. The "too busy" theme gets worn pretty thin.

As a matter of fact, old though the idea is, have you ever noticed that the really busy people are generally the ones who keep quietest about it? Have you ever noticed that the woman who won't take the committee chairmanship because she's "too busy" is almost invariably the woman who tells her intimates that she's "bored to death"?

Have you ever noticed that the people who fight most frantically to avoid responsibility are the ones so unaccustomed to it that the very idea startles them?

I know a woman judge who manages a 14-room house, including the supervision of two bedridden parents and the orphaned children of a brother, who serves on numerous club committees, writes and edits, makes her own dresses for recreation, has a rock garden which she made herself, has a mountain shack, which she painted herself, is writing a novel and, to boot, is considered the best night court judge in the country.

ASIDE from the "too busy" plea getting one into a responsibility-dodging frame of mind, it seems to me that it is both professionally and personally ruinous.

While it may sound crass to suggest that social contacts make the business bank account the fatter, this is such an apparent truth that the whole modern structure of business is based upon the value of "contacts."

I know one of these "too busy" young ladies in business for herself, who works about an 18-hour day and never strays by jot nor tittle from her own job's precincts, who can't understand why a rival young lady seems to have a more successful business than herself. "She's never on the job," comments the puzzled one, "and she's always flying to this social affair and that." But "flying to this social affair and that" explains the rival's success.

Saying It With Eggs

EVEN the person who is very fond of eggs gets tired of them served in the usual styles and craves variety in his egg dishes. Here are some rather unusual recipes that have proven their palate-tickling worth:

EGGS IN CHEESE SAUCE

Make a fairly thick white sauce. Add half a cup of grated yellow cheese. On a slice of toast lay two halves of hard-cooked egg. Pour a generous amount of the sauce over them. Sprinkle with paprika and serve immediately.

STUFFED EGG SALAD

This is no more than ordinary deviled eggs, two of which are placed on a lettuce leaf with a river of mayonnaise running between.

The common way to stuff eggs is merely to mix the yolks with the mayonnaise. Try a variation or two. Add a little chili sauce so that your eggs are stuffed with pink filling. Or add chopped olives or pickles to the yolk mixture.

EGGS IN OTHER SALADS

A great many salads lend themselves very well to the addition of a hard-cooked egg or two. Shrimp, tuna fish and salmon salad are all the better for a chopped egg in their midst. Thousand Island dressing literally cries out for as many eggs as you can spare at the moment.

If you don't care to mix the eggs with the salad, a half egg or a quarter or a slice or two make excellent garnishes for nearly every kind of vegetable salad.

EGG HORS D'OEUVRE

On a round of toast sprinkle chopped whites of hard-cooked egg. Make a mound of sifted yolk in the center. Season well with salt and pepper and serve a tiny paper cup of mayonnaise with it.

Almost any simple hors d'oeuvre may be made better with a little hard-cooked egg added.

If you are using shrimps, eggs may be added. A layer of chopped and sifted egg on toast and covered with fish or mushroom mixtures is fine.

Colored Linens to Welcome Summer

By ALIDA VREELAND

EVER alert to the influence our surroundings have on our moods, the thoughtful hostess will select for her summer entertaining those table linens which will add the most gaiety to her parties.

Whatever color scheme she may consider most desirable and in keeping with her other furnishings, she need not search long for the correct shades in the wide range of colors now procurable in linens. Whether for formal or informal affairs, luncheon, dinner, bridge tea or late supper, the colored cloth is not only being approved for all occasions by the best hostesses but, at the moment, is really outmoding white.

Pastel shades running through all the hues of the rainbow are generally the choice of the woman with discerning taste when she is considering the formal dinner or lunch cloth in color.

These appear in shining linen damask with borders of white, either plain, conventionally designed or with modernistic tendencies.

A GROUP of cloths for small dinners or luncheons is carried out in the new popular blending of linen damask and rayon. The ground of these cloths is in varying tones of green, yellow, rose and blue, achieving a rather changeable effect by white being woven in with the color.

Around the edge and toward the center runs a rayon silk border of a deeper shade than the ground with circular medallions of small brightly colored flowers placed at the stripe corners and in between.

Several others show a modernistic wave pattern in a color and white covering the entire background with a monotone border near the hem.

Another distinctive cloth is of all creamy white damask without a design, while a border shading from pink into yellow, green, blue and lavender—decreasing in width—runs around the outside to an eight-inch depth.

DINNER, lunch and bridge cloths of rayon will undoubtedly enjoy a tremendous vogue and may possibly become as fixed a tradition as linen with regard to table accessories. The lustre, softness and durability of rayon tend to make it most satisfying for table use. The silvery traceries of the patterns glowing through the surface tones add touches of richness and brilliancy to these cloths which few homemakers will be able to forego.

Color, however, is not the only medium employed to bring summery touches to tables. From Italy come cloths of linen so light in weave that they are almost transparent. These lovely coverings have no sheen whatever and are much like a creamy soft dress material. They rely for decoration and novelty on hand embroidery in modern patterns. One beautiful cloth has a kind of petal design radiating from the center, depicted entirely in white French knots. These and orange forming an orange in one corner.

Extremely dainty is one cloth made of turquoise green handkerchief squares hemstitched together with half-inch-wide cream-colored linen strips. Appliques of conventional designs are arranged in diagonal formation from one side of the table to the other. Of smaller squares hemstitched together is a pale blue linen cloth, some of the squares being embroidered with white floral sprays.

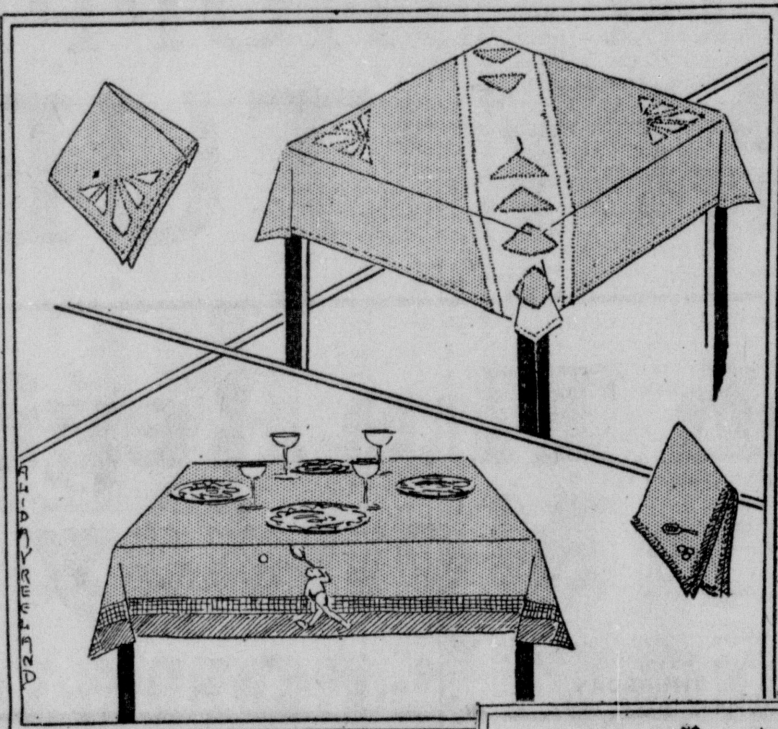

IN the larger sketch appear two very novel treatments for summer bridge table covers. The upper one is distinctly modern in color and design. Heavy greenish blue linen forms the background, and applied diagonally from one corner to the other is a white linen band, two rows of orange stitching emphasizing the outline. At either end and similarly outlined are diamond and triangular blue appliques. The other corners have white appliques with orange outlines.

After a doubles match in tennis nothing could be more appropriate than the refreshment cloth sketched in the same picture. Here are nets, racquets, balls and players.

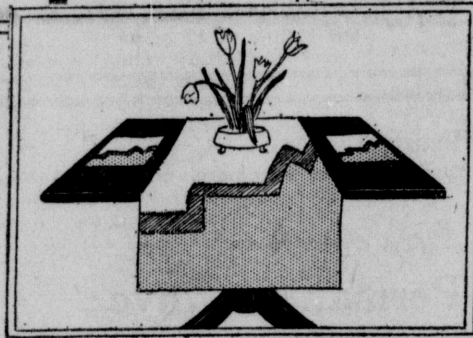

The ground is blue with a darker blue border with an inner border embroidered to give the semblance of a net in golden brown silk. Player and ball are applied on in white, while each napkin in one corner shows a racquet and three tennis balls.

Stunning in color combination and daring in its modernism is the luncheon cloth and doilies illustrated in the other sketch. It could be admirably used on either period or modernistic furniture and its pastel colorings would be a most fitting accompaniment to a bouquet of flowers in the center. Creamy yellow linen forms the background with an insert of lavender and border of pale green brought together with heavy golden-toned silk embroidery.

The vogue for color in table linens has brought with it a wealth of new possibilities in the use of glassware. Some hostesses have matching water glasses, salad plates and sherbets to go with each set of colored table linen, others brighten their boards with glassware that contrasts with the tone of the tablecloth and napkins. Both plans are good and charmingly up-to-the-minute.

Two novel bridge table covers. . . Above, a heavy greenish-blue linen cover in modernistic pattern; below, a blue cloth applied with tennis figures. The accompanying napkins are also sketched.

also follow the edge of the cloth above a half-inch fringe, looking much like tiny white beads.

PORCH and lawn meals on card tables, so often arranged impromptu in the summer, call for a generous supply of cloths and matching napkins. In fact there is no reason why many evening dinners among small families should not be eaten on the porch instead of the dining room during the summer.

A card table, so easily stood on its legs, is adequate for four when the dinner is informal and some serving stand is nearby. Cloths to cover such tables are smaller than others, laundering easily and inexpensively.

Among the simpler types reflecting summer moods are those of linen crash with colored orange borders and with an applique of green

Monday's Problems

IN MOST American homes it is the custom to have a somewhat rich Sunday dinner consisting of many courses that draw rather heavily on the weekly food budget. And because of the work necessary to this extraordinary meal—and the fact that Sunday is supposed to be a lazy day—the cleaning up is usually left until Monday, a busy day in most homes.

This dinner menu, which is easily prepared and inexpensive, is admirably suited to the day after the Sabbath:

Hamburger balls Mashed potatoes
French peas Hard rolls
Head lettuce salad
Hot apple pudding with cream Coffee

This menu is cheap, easy to prepare and should be welcome after a heavy Sunday dinner has found its way down your alimentary tract.

The hamburger is simply seasoned, shaped into balls or cakes and fried. Don't have them too thick or they won't cook through. You might put a slice of onion in the middle of each one to add zest. The peas are canned, of course. Heat, season, add a little melted butter and they are ready to serve. Serve the salad with a simple French dressing.

APPLE PUDDING

1 cup flour ¼ tsp. salt.
2 tbsps. shortening 1 tsp. sugar
2 tps. baking pdr. ¼ tsp. nutmeg
¾ cup milk

Slice two tart apples in a greased baking dish. Sprinkle with sugar. Mix the flour and shortening with fingers or knives. Add the other ingredients. Mix thoroughly. Spread over apples and bake in moderate oven about a half hour. Serve in wedges upside down with cream.

There's a meal that can be prepared with very little fuss in the kitchen and one that, for all its goodness, will not strain the allotment for edibles. And it will be a pleasant relief after the rich repast of the day before.

Winds and Skins

IF YOU will use the little mirror of your compact out in the daylight frequently, it will prove the best friend you ever had, but one which you may not like particularly because it is so terribly frank.

It doesn't take more than an inch of space on your face to show you the havoc that the wind works on your complexion.

Here's a soothing treatment for the skin after a day spent in the open: Heat a portion of theatrical cream and mix in almond meal until it forms a paste that will spread easily. Cut a double mask of cheese cloth, making slashes for nose and mouth; dampen this with warm water, squeeze out and spread the paste between the layers.

Having previously cleansed the face, open the pores of the skin by laying over it a Turkish towel that has been wrung out in hot water.

APPLY the mask, pressing well into the face but leaving the nostrils free. Wrap the head in a dry Turkish towel that has been heated, and let the face steam for 20 or 30 minutes, according to comfort. Remove, wash the face with warm, then cool water, and apply a mild astringent.

If the skin is tender, it is better to cleanse with cream than water before going outdoors, but almost the best protection you can use is a soothing powder base and one that will cause the powder to adhere to it tenaciously.

If you have not found just the base that suits your skin, brew the following lotion and try it: To three and one-half ounces of rose water add one ounce of quince seed. Soak for 24 hours and strain. In this lotion dissolve a half teaspoonful of borax and add a half ounce each of glycerin and alcohol. To perfume, add drop by drop, five drops of oil of bay, three of oil of rose. Mix thoroughly by shaking.

THE best way that you can attain a skin that can resist the strain put upon it is to look to your general health. Be sure to take your deep breathing and setting up exercises as soon as you awaken in the morning. Follow them with a cool bath, if you react to it, if not, with a dry rubdown.

Drink a cup of warm water before breakfast and, during the day, bring the amount of your liquid food up to two quarts, allowing yourself but one cup of tea and one cup of coffee. The rest of the quantity should be made up of fruit juices, sweet milk and butter milk, if you like it.

Don't overeat, but consume enough of digestible, healthful food for your bodily needs. Exercise often in the fresh air, if only for a few minutes at a time. Do these things and your skin will bloom.

Boys Who Become the World's Great Men

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

TOM BROWN bought 50-cent cigars when his boy was born. He had waited until he was 35 to get married so he could accumulate a fortune and keep his family "right."

"You can't do justice to children these days unless you have money," he declared. "I want my boys to be somebody—lawyers, business men, architects, engineers, something of that sort."

The baby was named John and was promptly supplied with two trained nurses, a suite of rooms of his own, and $10,000 in the bank to accumulate interest.

At the same time John was born, Pat, the chauffeur, was likewise blest. He and his wife had three rooms in one of the narrow cross-streets half a block from the garage. And into this blue but rather shabby heaven, young Patrick opened his eyes.

WHEN Tom gave Pat one of the 50-cent cigars he remarked jovially, "Well, Pat, I suppose you're going to make a first-class chauffeur out of that boy of yours."

Pat grinned. "No, sir! I'm figurin' on makin' him nothin'. If he can't make himself, he can't be made. But I'll help him all I can, that's a fact now."

Tom was very successful in business, and like most lucky people, he got his other wishes, (Copyright, 1929, NEA Magazine—Printed in U. S. A.)

too, at least almost. He has three sons and great plans for each of them.

Pat also continued to be consistent. He had eight children and was still Tom Brown's chauffeur.

The other day Tom took Pat to look over a new car he was buying for John for his birthday.

"By the way, Pat, how are your boys? Where's Paddy?"

"He's a senior in the university now, sir," said Pat proudly.

"The university!" Tom stared. "Then you haven't done so badly by him, have you?"

"Bless you, sir, I didn't do it. 'Twas himself! Him and that mother of his. She's been great for getting them kids educated, Molly has. Honestly, sir, I don't think she's missed one of them parent-teachers' meetings since they started. And every penny the boys saved selling papers and cleaning pavements, when they were kids, and working vacations, these last few years, she's put by in the bank."

"We always told them they would have to look out for themselves, but they're that ambitious, sir, I never saw anything like it. Paddy works all summer and sometimes at nights."

too. He's home from the college at two, and studies afterwards. He's going to be a lawyer, and a good one, I guess.

"And Terry, he's the same way—he's only 17, but if he isn't going to be the world's best engineer I miss my guess. Paul's a builder. Molly gets mad when I say it's his father's hod-carryin' he gets his taste for buildin' from. He's only 14, though. Maybe he'll be ownin' a chain o' stores yet. But say, sir, how's young John gettin' along?"

TOM'S eyes had taken on a peculiar flat look as he answered, "I'm afraid he's not as much interested in school as your boys, Pat. I've done too much for my children. They can't do a thing for themselves. They can't even study."

"I can see now that a boy has got more chance of making something of himself if someone doesn't make the road too soft for him."

Money will do a lot for children, but it won't do everything. This true little story may encourage parents who lament their lack of it because they can't give their children "advantages."

The question is—what are advantages? I leave it to you.

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY COMMUNITIES

8 Houses, 3 Garages Destroyed By Early Morning Fire

$12,000 LOSS IS CAUSED BY ATWOOD BLAZE

ATWOOD, April 29.—Eight houses, a large garage and two small garages were destroyed by fire which started shortly before 3 o'clock Sunday morning in one of the unoccupied apartments of Zuckerman's court in Atwood.

The fire was burning under the eaves of one of the detached units of the court when discovered by the pumper at the Winans No. 1 well. From there it spread rapidly through the other five apartments to the Americanization school and the house occupied by the H. Flores family, and which is owned by Roy Scott, of Long Beach. The garage on this place was burned, as was the large Zuckerman court garage and a small one back of it belonging to the Mace Beal place.

Of the six apartments in the court, three were occupied, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Zuckerman living in one and S. Courdin and George Duck in the other two. Mr. and Mrs. Zuckerman were in Los Angeles at the time and their personal effects and furniture were removed by oil workers and neighbors. The effects of the Flores family were saved, as were a couple of automobiles in the garages.

The Placentia fire department answered the call for help but because of the length of time before water could be pumped into the ditch, could be of little assistance. Mud from the Continental Oil company's Mondotte No. 1 was pumped on the burning embers.

The loss is thought to be around $12,000, partly covered by insurance. Defective electric wiring is thought to have been the cause of the fire.

Hold Funeral Of County Pioneer

FULLERTON, April 29.—Funeral services were held this afternoon for George Cline, who died Saturday in his home in La Habra. He had been a resident of Fullerton for 35 years, moving to La Habra five years ago. The services were held from the J. E. Seale funeral chapel, with the Rev. George Tinsley, pastor, and the Rev. Frank Dowling, former pastor of the First Christian church, of which Cline was a member, officiating.

He is survived by three sons, Charley Cline, of Santa Susanna; Edward Cline, of Lancaster, and Roy M. Cline, of Stillwell, Okla. A brother, Linn Cline, of La Habra, and one sister, Mrs. Charlotte Nathan, of Anadarko, Okla., also survive.

'Big Idea' Is Selected For Senior Play

FULLERTON, April 29.—"The Big Idea" has been chosen as the senior class play by Mrs. Esther Litchfield, drama instructor of the Fullerton union high school. The play will be given the evenings of June 7 and 8.

This play, written by A. E. Thomas and Clayton Hamilton, is a dramatic comedy with an unusual plot which centers about a boy, who, in order to make money easily and save his father from bankruptcy, writes a play of his father's troubles.

Mrs. Litchfield plans to alternate two girls for each part. Try-outs for the various roles have begun. The complete cast is expected to be announced within a few days, according to Mrs. Litchfield.

SILVER WEDDING IS CELEBRATED IN SEAL BEACH

SEAL BEACH, April 29.—The silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Wooding was celebrated in their home at 111 Eighth street. Five guests present attended the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wooding.

The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Wooding was solemnized in Bloomfield, Mo., with the pastor of the Christian church of that city, the Rev. J. H. Tiller, reading the service.

On the anniversary, a mock wedding was the feature of the evening, with H. C. Reavis, of Sierra Madre, substituting for the Rev. Mr. Tiller.

Sweet peas and lilies in profusion carried out the color scheme of lavender and white and the gowns worn by the bride of yesterday and her bridesmaid reflected the fashions of a quarter century ago.

Miss Lucile Wooding, a daughter, acted as bridesmaid on this occasion, and Minton, a son, as best man.

The dinner menu suggested the ability of cooks of other days. Plates were laid for 18, including Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gardner, H. A. Wooding, and Verner Woodward, of Bakersfield; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Reavis, of Sierra Madre, and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Mobley, of Long Beach.

Guests who attended both events were Mrs. H. J. Wilson and Mrs. H. C. Reavis, nieces, Mrs. E. M. Garner, sister of the bride; H. A. Wooding and B. F. Mobley.

Valedictorian Of Class Is Chosen

FULLERTON, April 29.—Don Pierotti will represent the senior class as valedictorian, it was announced today. Pierotti was tied with two other students, Irvin Chapman and Durward Palmer, for high scholastic honors.

DAUGHTER BORN

ANAHEIM, April 29.—A nine and a half pound baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. A. Rouquet, of Anaheim, at the California hospital April 26.

MIDWAY CITY ROAD PROJECT GETS BACKING

MIDWAY April 29.—The Hellman estate will give a right-of-way for the extension of First street to the Coast highway at Seal Beach. It was announced today by Sterling Price, president of the Midway City Chamber of Commerce. Price interviewed Fred Bixby, manager of the Hellman interests, yesterday and was assured co-operation in the project.

With the exception of the California Gun club property, land needed for the road project has been promised, Price said.

The Midway City chamber recently launched a campaign to extend First street from the Garden Grove intersection to the coast through Midway City, and asked the co-operation of Santa Ana and other cities in the move.

A report on the proposed building for the chamber will be made next Friday, when John S. Harper, founder of Midway City, will be present to explain a proposal he has in mind. Harper recently donated a lot for the structure. J. H. McKenzie, George Harding and J. James, comprising the new building committee, met Friday night to discuss the building project.

New Library Completed Next Month

NEWPORT BEACH, April 29.—Rapid progress is being made on the new library building at Central and Island avenues and it will be completed and ready for occupancy some time in May.

H. L. Sherman, a member of the city library board, who drew the plans for the new building, has been spending most of his time supervising the work.

In addition to providing modern and commodious facilities for the library, the building will be a distinct improvement to that part of the city.

Social Is Held In Wintersburg

WINTERSBURG, April 29.—Sunday school night was observed in the Wintersburg Methodist church Thursday evening, when a social time was enjoyed in the church hall, the event being in honor of winners in a recent contest which was put on by classes of the school.

A musical program was given during the evening, vocal numbers being given by visiting artists, Amy and Lawrence Worthy, of Huntington Beach, and instrumental selections by the boys' orchestra under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. Pryor.

Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

Bids On Port Work Opened This Evening

NEWPORT BEACH, April 29.—The Newport Beach city council is scheduled tonight to open bids for the dredging to be done at the harbor entrance.

This money is already in the city treasury. Later, a bond issue for $165,000 will be called and if the city voters approve it further improvement will be carried out at the entrance next fall.

The autumn program will include further dredging, so as to provide a channel 15 feet deep and 100 feet wide through the entrance, also to build groins to straighten the current and protect the west jetty.

Contracts Given By Brea Council

BREA, April 29.—The city council met in regular session Wednesday evening in the city hall. A contract for bathing suits was awarded to Woodruffs, Inc.

Mrs. Gaugy was awarded a contract for 50 dozen bath towels.

The Cumming Furniture company will provide the lockers.

Mr. Clifton, of Los Angeles, was awarded a contract for a flagpole for the new city park.

NEW WELFARE OFFICE URGED FOR DISTRICT

ORANGE, April 29.—Plans for a county exchange were discussed at the recent meeting of the Orange welfare board, when Mrs. Carrie Leebrick, of Santa Ana, Orange county welfare worker, was the speaker.

The office would prevent duplication of charity work and confidential reports of cases handled in the county would be exchanged, it was declared.

Mrs. Lillian Wiedemann, in charge of the Orange welfare store and employment bureau, reported that since November there had been 43 applications for employment and that 21 persons had been placed in position.

The conference of social workers, which is to be held in San Francisco this summer, was brought to the attention of the board.

A drive for clothing and other articles that may be sold in the local welfare store will be started the first of the month and one day each week will be set aside when members of such organizations connected with the welfare work may bring their articles to the store.

Glass Plant Expected To Aid Harbor

NEWPORT BEACH, April 29.—The advent of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company plant to Santa Ana and of allied and other industries expected to follow it, will be of material benefit to the Newport harbor district in two ways, it was pointed out today by real estate and business men.

In the first place this industrial development will naturally spread toward the harbor and bring nearer the day when it will be necessary to develop both the lower and upper bay for commercial purposes, it was declared.

The new industries will also cause many executive and other workers to seek homes in Newport, Balboa and Costa Mesa.

Buys La Habra Lot For Building

LA HABRA, April 29.—B. F. Harp of the Elite Cleaners has purchased a lot on East Central avenue from E. O. Janeway and will build there in the near future.

FRANTZ NAMED DIRECTOR OF AVOCADO MEN

LA HABRA, April 29.—Ray Frantz, of La Habra, was elected a director of district five at the business meeting of the Calavo Growers' association in the La Habra city hall Saturday. He succeeds J. E. Foley.

Reports disclosed that the avocado business is increasing rapidly. The growers present were told that La Habra has an excellent chance of securing a packing plant, providing the growers co-operate with the state association. At present a receiving plant is in operation.

ENTERTAIN SCOUTS

IRVINE, April 29.—Mrs. W. P. Mitchell entertained the Girl Scouts at a picnic dinner in her home on Valencia avenue last week. The girls made the ice cream and prepared the sandwiches and spent the evening playing games. Those who enjoyed the party were Dorothy Ahern, assistant Scout leader; Nellie Boyd, Jeanne Coopman, Maxine Hazen, Betty Boosey, Helen Collins, Lucy Ahern, Lorraine Cook, Pauline Swain, Nadine Slice, Laura Boyd and Madeline DeBrower.

"HEARTS in DIXIE"

A 100% ALL DIALOG NOVELTY

THE most enduring books, plays or pictures ... have been those with heart interest. Sex and sensationalism has its flare ... flames red and as quickly dies away ... beauty of soul ... kindness and humanity...we remember and cherish. ... William Fox has made an all talking picture ... It is named "Hearts in Dixie"...because its locale is the southland. In it you will meet "Nappus" ... one of nature's noblemen ... his smile will enchant you ... his homely philosophy will enrich you ... with a smile he meets misfortune...his is a great sacrifice ... because he gives his all...that another may reap the harvest. ... "Hearts in Dixie" is the living soul of a people ... with all its joy and happiness ... sorrow and tears ... misery and superstition ... the songs and dances...the mad chants ... the melodies of a jungle ancestry. We are asking that you see...and hear... "Hearts in Dixie" because we believe it to be the cinema triumph of the great Fox Studio. We'll have more about "Hearts in Dixie" to tell you ... tomorrow!

Countians Return Here For 2 Weeks

LAUGHS FROM THE DIAMOND

by Billy Evans

"Mickey" Cochrane, voted the most valuable American league player in 1928, is the type player sought by every league manager. He is perhaps the most aggressive backstop in baseball. The word "quit" isn't in his vocabulary. He is highly regarded by every American league umpire. They know that any time "Mickey" questions a decision, he feels he has a kick coming.

When Cochrane starts an argument, the umpire is in a predicament. It is difficult for the umpire to get the better of the verbal till. Umpires believe it is always well to shun a battle of wits with Cochrane if it can be done without losing control of the situation. Like a great many players, Cochrane indulges in a chew of tobacco during the progress of a game but off the field never uses it.

If you would ask Cochrane what incident of his career stands out as the most humorous, I am sure he would tell you that Umpire Dick Nallin silenced his batteries without so much as a word when Cochrane once rushed at him, intent on making a strenuous protest over a base decision that he felt should have favored the Athletics instead of going against them.

It was in the eighth inning of a nip and tuck game between New York and Philadelphia that Umpire Nallin resorted to his deaf-and-dumb methods of silencing Cochrane. With two on and two out, Cochrane hit a ball to deep short on which Koenig made a great stop and an equally great throw. According to Nallin, the throw beat Cochrane by a hair-line margin. He ruled him out.

ABOUT THE CATCHERS "This stuff about the necessity of having a great smart catcher on a ball club is a pain to me," a coach of an important major league ball club said down south this spring. It might be explained that the coach who was speaking was a former infielder of more than ordinary ability and who held his post on several great ball clubs for more than ten years. "The catchers in my time and in these days get a lot of credit for the brains of the pitcher. Most of the guys in the stands think that the catcher gives the sign for every pitch. They're wrong. The best of the pitchers give their own signs. And if you don't believe me just go to a ball game and watch."

PAT PHILLIPS IS WINNER OF MOTORCYCLE MEET FEATURE

Pat Phillips, Pasadena pilot, won the 20-mile contest that featured the Orange County Motorcycle club's races yesterday afternoon. The event attracted a large crowd to the club's track north of the coast highway between Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. Perched on a Harley-Davidson, Phillips negotiated the distance in 17 minutes, 55 seconds to win by a second from Henry Rhodes, of Huntington Beach, who drove an Indian. Bill Richter, of San Diego piloting a Harley-Davidson, was third. O. D. Killenbeck, Santa Ana, won the 10-mile race for 45 motors and under. His time was 8 minutes. He drove an Indian. Ted Newton, Los Angeles, was second on an Indian and "Bus" Skaggs,

Yesterday's Results
Bakersfield, 5-3; San Bernardino, 2-5.
San Diego, 11-6; Orange, 2-5.

Still floundering around in the basement of the California State league but showing unmistakable signs of rejuvenation, Orange County's lowly entry in organized baseball will return to Santa Ana for a two-week stand at the Fair grounds this week.

Jess Orndorff's hirelings will play Bakersfield in a six-game series that opens Wednesday and remain here for a second week to oppose San Bernardino. It will be the first time this year that either Bakersfield or San Bernardino have appeared at the Fair grounds.

Orange County has won only three of its 18 games in the State league and already appears hopelessly out of the pennant race but the club has not played nearly as badly as the percentage column would indicate. Eight of those 15 defeats were by single run margins.

Orndorff and President Henry K. Elder have obtained a number of new and better players since the Countians left for San Diego last week. They purchased Kenny O'Kane and Ernie McCabe, a couple of versatile youngsters, from Sam Agnew, the San Diego manager, and picked up three or four other promising kids during their sojourn at the border. The Countians still need a few winning pitchers but otherwise look capable of holding their own in Class D ball.

Woodruff, Robertson and Brande are playing in the outfield now with Kostel the only holdover in the infield. O'Kane is playing second base, Smith and Villarino, both new men, are left fielders.

Meanwhile no response has been heard from the offer of George W. Harding, San Diego construction engineer, to build an up-to-date baseball park in Santa Ana and take over the active management of the Countians which Orndorff and Elder are said to be willing to drop.

Harding wants to lease a suitable acreage closer to Santa Ana than the Fair grounds. He is amply financed and anxious to get in touch with any property owner interested.

HERE'S A CASE "Well take the case of the White Sox of 1913, for instance. I'm not talking about Ray Schalk particularly in this case because Ray and I are the best of friends and always will be, I hope, but I am using his case just for an example. He is rated as one of the greatest catchers of all time, but I don't think that he made that ball club."

"There was a smart fellow on second base, Eddie Collins. And he was a very smart ball player. There was Hap Felsch in the outfield who was a smart ball player who didn't have to be moved around by any catcher."

DUMB BUT SMART "There was another outfielder on that club who wasn't smart. He was Joe Jackson and he didn't know anything about books. But he was a natural ball player and he didn't have to be flagged by any catcher."

"They had some pitchers on that ball club who knew plenty, too. Eddie Cicotte didn't have to be told what to throw. He knew the batters and more than that. The catcher couldn't use that fun."

CHICAGO STADIUM SUCCESS IS TOLD

CHICAGO, April 29.—Promoter Paddy Harmon, who convinced the big money men that the largest indoor sports arena in the country could prosper in Chicago today was prepared to submit figures to prove that his claims were not idle dreams.

He was ready to appear before the board of directors of the new Chicago stadium with the statement of the first month of business in the new building and his figures showed slightly more than $450,000 to see a big profit.

The profit was slightly more than $80,000, after costs of promotion and advertising for the summer season had been taken out of the first month's business.

Penn Relay Marks Better Than Drake

NEW YORK, April 29.—The Penn relays outranked the Drake relays in ten major events this year, a comparison showed today. Last year the Drake relays recorded superior performances in six of these ten events, with one even. In the two meets held last Friday and Saturday, however, the athletes competing at Philadelphia registered the better marks in eight events.

Weather conditions were more nearly ideal at Philadelphia, however.

GETS DUCKING

It is a tradition at the University of California that each crew victory must be followed by a solemn rite of throwing the coxswain into the water. Here's the young man who is taking the ducking this year—"Moon" Mullin, mite of 120 pounds. Mullin got his first ducking when California's crew whipped Washington and expressed the belief at the time that it wouldn't be the only one he got this year.

'Y' PLAYERS IN NEW SCHEDULE OF VOLLEYBALL

A new round of volleyball will begin at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. tonight with a series of games to be played by the members of the business men's gymnasium classes. The games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, from 6 to 7 o'clock. Tonight's game will be between the first two teams, named respectively "Robins" and "Jays." Dr. G. E. Raitt is captain of the Robins and Warren Fletcher heads up the Jays.

The teams are composed as follows: Robins—Dr. G. E. Raitt, captain; Howard Barrows, Sam Fink, Dr. Loersch, Leon Lauderbach, J. Hasenjaeger.

Jays—Warren Fletcher, captain; Ray Echols, W. L. Duggan, Dr. Haiber, Claire Hanson, L. A. Wallace.

Orleans—Jack Baker, captain; George Baker, Omar Carrillo, C. A. McCullough, Dr. Croal, Rev. H. E. Owings, F. R. Schweitzer.

Crows—Kemper Taylor, captain; J. W. Taylor, E. C. Ameling, Nat H. Neff, J. Biehan, Frank Humphrey, C. E. Camm.

Larks—Coleman Hickey, captain; C. H. Marcher, Harold Fish, Harry Fink, Jud House, F. C. Robinson.

Sparrows—Harold W. Smith, captain; H. A. Smith, A. G. Green, R. F. Chambers, R. Hooker, L. B. Armstrong.

Flickers—Dr. Frank Ashmore, captain; E. S. Morrow, L. C. Portman, Dr. H. A. Stryker, Cleve Sedoris, W. S. Kellogg, J. A. Crans-ton.

Czecho-Slovakia Tennis Team Wins

VIENNA, April 29.—Czecho-Slovakia defeated Austria in the first round of the European zone Davis cup play here yesterday, 3 matches to 2, by dividing the final two singles matches.

HEADLOCK, BODY SCISSORS VIE IN LEWIS-STECHER MAT MATCH

LOS ANGELES, April 29.—The headlock and the body scissors, the two best known holds in the wrestling game today, manipulated by their inventors and greatest exponents, "Strangler" Lewis and Joe Stecher, respectively, will be pitted against each other in a finish match at the Olympic Wednesday night.

The holds are as well known as the wrestlers themselves. Lewis' name has always been associated with headlocks, while Stecher's name and body scissors are invariably uttered in the same breath.

Both Lewis and Stecher are the outstanding veterans in the heavy-weight division today, and at present are classed as the most dangerous contenders Champion Gus Sonnenberg has for his title.

Lewis and Stecher have each held the title on three different occasions during their respective wrestling careers. Stecher won it in 1916; lost it to Earl Caddock the following year, won it back in 1919 in New York City, lost it to Lewis there the following year; won it again from Stanley Zyzsko in 1925, and lost it for the last time in 1928, to Lewis, his opponent in a winner-take-all match Wednesday night, and his most bitter mat enemy.

Lewis first held the title after his Stecher victory in 1920, but he lost it the following year to Stanley Zyzsko in a one fall match. Lewis won it back the following year only to lose it to Wayne ("Big") Munn of Nebraska, in 1924. Zyzsko beat Munn, and lost the title to Stecher, and Lewis won it from the "scissor-king" to hold it for the third time. Lewis' reign came to an end in Boston last January when Sonnenberg relieved him of the title.

BOY GOLFER IS SENSATION AT COUNTRY CLUB

Dwight Ainsworth, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ainsworth, never had a golf stick in his hands until less than a year ago but he was the toast of the Santa Ana Country club today. Playing with his daddy in the Father and Sons' tournament, young Ainsworth shot a breezy 88 which equaled the score his father had for the same round. Even such sensational golf by the youngster failed to win for the Ainsworths, however, as Norman and "Bud" Hoyle, their father-and-son opponents, nosed them out. "Bud" Hoyle, came in with a fine 83 which turned the tide their way.

Quarter-finals have been reached in the tournament and the semi-finals will be held next week. S. R. Bowen and son, Paul, defeated George Jeffrey and William Jeffrey. They will meet Walter and Newell Vandermast, who eliminated J. S. and Joe Warner.

Norman and "Bud" Hoyle won from J. W. and Kemper Taylor while J. L. and Dwight Ainsworth beat E. K. and Carl Gerhardt. It was in the Hoyle-Ainsworth quarter-finals contest that the two sons were in such dazzling form.

T. B. and Gordon Talbert defeated Dr. W. A. and Billy Flood and will face L. M. and Alfred Forney who eliminated Willard Smith and son. F. E. and Ed Farnsworth won from W. M. Prince and Kenneth and will next play Hugh and "Chick" Shields, conquerors of E. V. S. Pomeroy and Van.

B. V. Curry was "right" yesterday and won Class A match play from a large field. He was one down. Dr. G. C. Ross and Dean Collier tied for second, both being two down. George Baker and L. W. Bemis were three down.

Herbert L. Miller and John Martell tied in Class B, both with scores of two down. H. L. Hanson and H. B. Rapp tied for third. They were three down.

Dr. G. C. Ross and M. Rosson won Class A and Class B match play, respectively, at the Country club Saturday. Ross, two down, was trailed by E. V. Van Meter, E. Fenelon, B. V. Curry, M. B. Lacy, and R. A. Graves, all three down. W. H. Spurgeon Jr. and Judge J. L. Allen pursued Rosson most closely, Spurgeon being even and Judge Allen two down. Rosson was one up to par.

WYKOFF TO DECIDE PLANS FOR FUTURE

There are three horns to the dilemma at present. Wykoff is considering a trip to Columbus to the Ohio games or a match with Charley Borah, U. S. C. sprint star, in Los Angeles Saturday. Some advisers, however, want him to taper off his track activities for the year due to a serious illness last winter.

Last Saturday at the Fresno relay games, Wykoff and Borah each tied the world's record in the 100-yard dash on two occasions.

GLENDAL, April 29.—A conference will be held here late today to determine the immediate future of Frank Wykoff, national sprint champion, backers of the young runner announced.

There are three horns to the dilemma at present. Wykoff is considering a trip to Columbus to the Ohio games or a match with Charley Borah, U. S. C. sprint star, in Los Angeles Saturday. Some advisers, however, want him to taper off his track activities for the year due to a serious illness last winter.

Last Saturday at the Fresno relay games, Wykoff and Borah each tied the world's record in the 100-yard dash on two occasions.

LOCAL STARS PLACE IN MEET AT FRESNO

Santa Ana junior college placed two men in the West Coast relay meet at Fresno Saturday and two other Santa Ana products, competing for the University of Southern California, figured in the scoring.

"Red" Guyer, captain of the Don's took third in the Class B 100-yard dash in which Frank Wykoff, sensational Glendale sprinter, equaled the recognized world's record of 9 3-5 seconds. Jackson, Fresno State college star, just nosed out Guyer for second place.

Blanchard Beatty, another Don, took fourth in the Class B javelin. Howard Paul, former Santa Ana high school track star, broad-jumped 24 feet, 1-2 inch but got only fourth. Charley Webber took fourth in the Class A 120-yard high hurdles.

NO BOXING AT TECH Georgia Tech doesn't recognize boxing as a form of athletic competition, but hopes to remove the ban soon.

BLAKE, GILL IN SHAPE FOR BIG RING GO HERE

BY RINGSIDER At widely separated headquarters, Hi Gill and Billy Blake put the final touches on their training today for the Orange County Athletic club's 10-round main event here tomorrow night. Gill dashed through an impressive workout in the Santa Ana gymnasium while his Jewish opponent boxed a few rounds at Wilmington, where he conditions for all of his matches.

Blake and Gill met here several weeks ago with Blake getting a decision after six rounds of fairly close milling. Gill was an eleventh hour substitute in that bout. He was lousy and overweight from lack of work but he gave a good account of himself against this Blake who in the last month has whipped Joe Arciniega, Sammy Jackson and "Bubber" Johnson.

The Orange County Athletic club's public relations counsel has spread before Ringsider enough clippings to make Blake look like a world champion.

One said, "Santiago Zorilla says his hardest fight was with Billy Blake at Wilmington a couple of years ago. Blake was then a feather, with the Hudkins stable. He now fights for 'Big Shot' Ross as a middleweight. The two slugged and maulled each other through 10 terrific rounds to a draw. Zorilla thinks that bout was harder than any of his others—Taylor, Morgan, Sangor, Hernandez or Petrolle."

Another, covering the battle between Blake and Joe Arciniega at Ocean Park last week, said: "Joe Arciniega, boiling with rage, hissed, 'C'mon in, you and fight!' Billy Blake did. He fought the rugged Mexican off his feet, smashed one eye closed, started the claret from his nose and lips and gave Joe an all-around shellacking for eight rounds in the main event."

Gill Unimpressed Gill is unmoved by these glowing accounts of Blake's ferocity. "Tell Blake to bring those newspaper clippings into the ring with him," he said. "Then he can prove he's good."

The semi-windup of the feature preliminary have been vice-versa by the state boxing commission, according to Kid Mexico, O. C. A. C. matchmaker.

Louis Ramos, the San Blas Indian who made a monkey out of Pete Cardenas at Wilmington last week, will box Ascencio Hernandez in the eight-round semi-final, it was announced. It is about time they recognize this Hernandez. He has been winning so regularly in the early spots that he has earned a better assignment.

Young Franklin, who knocked out Hal Cox at San Bernardino, and Johnny Sova, who stopped Harry Lee at San Diego Friday, will provide the six-round feature. The winner will be in line for a bout here with Wally Frazier.

Two other four-round preliminaries will complete the card. Lupe Chappero gets Paul Chaney, Kenneth La Salle, brother of "Bad Boy" Bobby, opens the show against Ray Molino.

Matches scheduled for Santa Ana bowling teams this week follow: Thursday (Southern California league)—Hancock Gasoline vs. P. and L. Motor Service at Santa Ana; Kelly Roofing company vs. Palace grill at Santa Ana; Jerome-McDonald Diamond Tires vs. Wilmington Bowl at Long Beach; G. M. C. Trucks vs. Mutual Building and Loan at Long Beach.

LOCAL BOWLERS TO COMPETE IN COAST TOURNEY

Santa Ana's colors will be carried into the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress tournament at Fresno next month by two strong all-local teams. A third squad, picked from all over Orange county, will be another entrant.

This tourney is the annual blue ribbon event of bowling in the far west and attracts more than 200 five-man teams from every city of importance between San Diego and Vancouver. Cash prizes of approximately $10,000 will be awarded winners.

The first Santa Ana team to take the drives will be the Hancock Gasoline squad which will roll May 11 and May 12. This team is captained by Horace Snow. In the lineup also will be Fred Windler, Marshall Secret, Mason Youd and Eddie West.

The Kelly Roofing company quintet, led by Harry Gaspar, will shoot May 14. This team, now tied for first place in the Southern California league, is given an excellent chance of getting into the money. Beside Gaspar, the personnel is Eddie Cochems, Charley Zimmer, Milt Varner and Norman Walker.

Ralph O'Hair and Don Jerome, of Santa Ana, will be on the Orange county team that will bowl later in the month. The other three men are Penny Jones, Al Schulz and Henry Flesner, of Anaheim.

Matches scheduled for Santa Ana bowling teams this week follow: Thursday (Southern California league)—Hancock Gasoline vs. P. and L. Motor Service at Santa Ana; Kelly Roofing company vs. Palace grill at Santa Ana; Jerome-McDonald Diamond Tires vs. Wilmington Bowl at Long Beach; G. M. C. LOCAL STARS PLACE IN MEET AT FRESNO

Santa Ana junior college placed two men in the West Coast relay meet at Fresno Saturday and two other Santa Ana products, competing for the University of Southern California, figured in the scoring.

"Red" Guyer, captain of the Don's took third in the Class B 100-yard dash in which Frank Wykoff, sensational Glendale sprinter, equaled the recognized world's record of 9 3-5 seconds. Jackson, Fresno State college star, just nosed out Guyer for second place.

THE 'JUDGE'

No baseball season ever would be complete without offering fans a new photograph of Judge Landis, high commissioner of baseball. Of course, this photograph of the gray-haired judge won't be greeted with love and kisses everywhere, especially in those towns that lost some pet ball players that he made free agents, but here's the Judge as he looked at one of the opening games of the season.

LOCAL BOWLERS TO COMPETE IN COAST TOURNEY

Santa Ana's colors will be carried into the Pacific Coast Bowling Congress tournament at Fresno next month by two strong all-local teams. A third squad, picked from all over Orange county, will be another entrant.

This tourney is the annual blue ribbon event of bowling in the far west and attracts more than 200 five-man teams from every city of importance between San Diego and Vancouver. Cash prizes of approximately $10,000 will be awarded winners.

The first Santa Ana team to take the drives will be the Hancock Gasoline squad which will roll May 11 and May 12. This team is captained by Horace Snow. In the lineup also will be Fred Windler, Marshall Secret, Mason Youd and Eddie West.

The Kelly Roofing company quintet, led by Harry Gaspar, will shoot May 14. This team, now tied for first place in the Southern California league, is given an excellent chance of getting into the money. Beside Gaspar, the personnel is Eddie Cochems, Charley Zimmer, Milt Varner and Norman Walker.

Ralph O'Hair and Don Jerome, of Santa Ana, will be on the Orange county team that will bowl later in the month. The other three men are Penny Jones, Al Schulz and Henry Flesner, of Anaheim.

Matches scheduled for Santa Ana bowling teams this week follow: Thursday (Southern California league)—Hancock Gasoline vs. P. and L. Motor Service at Santa Ana; Kelly Roofing company vs. Palace grill at Santa Ana; Jerome-McDonald Diamond Tires vs. Wilmington Bowl at Long Beach; G. M. C. Trucks vs. Mutual Building and Loan at Long Beach.

PAUL STARS AS SAN DIEGO HAS MEET OWN WAY

Santa Ana high school made 10 1/2 points and tied for fourth place in the Southern California interscholastic track field meet which San Diego won with surprising ease in the Los Angeles Coliseum Saturday afternoon.

Scoring heavily in two events which the dopsters had overlooked, San Diego rolled up 22 1/2 points to spread eagle a field of more than 30 leading high schools. Hollywood was second with 14 and Los Angeles, the pre-meet favorite, third with 13 1/2. Jefferson tied Santa Ana for fourth.

Norman Paul, a junior, whose rise to athletic fame has featured the local season, made 10 of Santa Ana's 11 1/2 points. Paul became the individual star of the annual classic when he scored first places in both the broad jump and the 220-yard low hurdles, the only athlete to account for a double victory. He jumped 22 feet, 4 1/2 inches and ran the low sticks in 24-3/5.

Al Reboin and Tom Donahue made the other Saint points. Reboin finishing fourth in the same hurdle race Paul won and Donahue running a brilliant race in the mile for a fifth.

Santa Ana's outside chance to take the meet was shattered in the third event of the day, the 120-yard high hurdles, when Reboin, doped to win, hit his next-to-last obstacle, fell heavily and was unplaced. The plucky little Saint all-around athlete was leading the field by two feet at the time of this tragedy and appeared a certain winner.

Reboin thereafter was in neither physical nor mental condition to perform at his best in his other two events, the pole vault and the low hurdles, and it was not surprising when he was eliminated in the vault at 12 feet and when he came in only fourth in the low hurdles behind runners he had beaten on other days. Reboin's leg was severely bruised and he was badly shaken up in his fall and he showed plenty of courage to place at all in the longer timber race. The youngster also hit a hurdle in the lows and barely escaped a second discouraging tumble.

Coach "Tex" Oliver will have three Santa Ana men in four events in the California State interscholastic, to be held at the Coliseum May 11. Only athletes who placed in the All-Southern will be eligible for the state meet along with those who qualified in the Central and Northern California sectional meets. Paul will compete in the broad jump and the low hurdles, Reboin in the low hurdles and Donahue in the mile. There is no chance for Reboin to compete in the high hurdles despite the fact that he is conceded to be the best in the south.

Captain Tommy Cone made his best showing of the season in the half-mile but finished in sixth place, just outside "the money." The race was won by Webster, of Webb school, in the splendid time of 1:59 flat. Webster, all-time of 1:59 flat. Webster, all-time of 1:59 flat. Webster, all-time of 1:59 flat.

Ervast To Leave For Turf Classic

SAN DIEGO, April 29.—Ervast, Baron Long's Tanoran and Tijuana racing sensation until he suffered a leg injury and had to be thrown out of training, will leave here Wednesday for the Kentucky derby.

Ervast has completely recovered, and dazzling workouts of the last few days show the colt to be at his best form. Ervast will ship in a special car in charge of Trainer Walter Fenwick.

Next Saturday, Nalshapur, winner of the Tijuana Derby, will leave for Louisville to begin final training for the Kentucky classic.

City Officials Greet the Silver Fleet

Mayor Purinton Welcomes 19 Drivers Bringing Greetings From Mayor Walker Of New York

Crowds yesterday lined the curbs...buzzing with expectancy. Then...from far up the thoroughfare...motor horns blared. A murmur swept along the street....swelled to a cheer.

Fifteen gleaming, silver cars glided up....swung into perfect line....halted. A command....and 19 uniformed athlete-pilots snapped into formation. City officials stepped forward to greet them.

The Silver Fleet had arrived here with greetings from New York's famous Mayor, James J. (Jimmy) Walker....and from the city fathers of scores of other places visited enroute to this city.

The throng that watched saw a brief ceremony. The pilots stood inspection. The city officials examined their equipment.

Then a farewell salute. A signal sounded....and the procession swung away on parade....to formally inaugurate our Silver Fleet Trade-In Sale.

There certainly was a crowd around our place. People looking over the cars....discussing roads and weather and performance with the pilots....marveling at the condition of the tires after the long, hard grind from New York City. An amazing story it was that the Fleet pilots had to tell. Bucking February snow and sleet....punishing their tires in mile after mile of cutting, icy ruts....pulling through boggy detours....spinning wheels unmercifully in hub-deep mud....spanning prairies of hot blistering sand....meeting the worst possible conditions one could find anywhere.

A Lesson to Tire Buyers
This test, the pilots pointed out, is a demonstration before the whole nation, that the nation may see the kind of stuff Goodrich Tires are made of.

The cars in the Fleet are a representative fifteen, from a smart little Ford to a majestic Packard....from the trim Whippet to the haughty Lincoln.

Tires, too, are those the whole country knows....Silvertowns. Four ply, six ply, De Luxe....every type in the Goodrich passenger car line.

Sixty of them straight from stock....duplicates of those in our store. Exactly like the Goodrich Tires we offer you at amazing values during our big Silver Fleet Trade-In Sale that began yesterday.

RECEIVING KEY TO CITY! This photograph was taken at a civic ceremony typical to that held here yesterday. Throng attended to watch local officials welcome the Silver Fleet, and to examine the 60 Silvertown tires that, despite long, hard, grueling run to this city, are in excellent shape.

AFTER MILES OF THIS! Picture snapped en route to this city shows the Silver Fleet on the kind of a road you like to avoid. Yet after thousands of miles of going as severe as this, and even worse, the Silvertowns on the Fleet are in surprisingly fine condition.

Our Big Trade-In Sale Under Way

Worn Tires Worth Good Money Here This Week

You should have been here yesterday to see all the old casings we took off cars and replaced with fresh new rubber. Our Silver Fleet Trade-In Sale proved a big hit.

Our offer to take in your worn casings on brand new Goodrich Tires is still open. Allowances are so generous, you'll be amazed to learn how little it will cost you now to put sound, trouble-free rubber on all four wheels.

If you want to apply your old casings on a tire built for superlative service, we'll take it in on a Silvertown De Luxe. Massive....super-sturdy....smart....

Or if your needs are those of the average motorist....we'll supply you the famous Silvertowns that set the standard of value the country over.

Or perhaps you prefer a low cash investment....then ask to see the stout new Goodrich Cavalier....the low-priced, high quality tire for hard buyers.

Check up your present tires today....for cuts....stone bruises....signs of tread wear....possible sidewall weaknesses. We will take them in whether you figure there are ten or five or only one thousand miles left in them.

Then....drop around today....or tomorrow. The sale ends soon. You don't want to let this bargain opportunity slip by.

ORDERS UNITE IN DINNER AND AMUSEMENT

Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War who met at monthly intervals for a covered dish dinner and an entertainment program, held one of the pleasantest sessions of the year when they met early last week in K. of P. hall.

The Daughters assumed all responsibility of kitchen and dining-room arrangements, with Mrs. T. Overton as chairman, aided by Mrs. A. Rounds Tent No. 10, D. U. V. Tables were beautifully decorated with their decorations of sweet peas, and the menu was appetizing and delicious.

The Sons' organization took charge of the program presented at the conclusion of dinner, and L. Harrell served as chairman. The chorus singing of "America," d. Mrs. Holman of Indianapolis, at the piano, opened the entertainment. Miss Georgia Belle alton played several beautiful piano numbers, to piano accompaniment by Miss Marjorie alton. Her selections were "Spanish Dance," "In the Canebrake" by Gardner, and "The Old Refrain" by Kreisler. Elmer Thompson's baritone voice as enjoyed in three solos, "Singing the Cretan" by Elliott, "Pale Moon" by Logan and "Brown an" by Robb-Braine. The Cozad sum corps gave several selections of martial music, and Charles and Mary Cozad played two fine duets, "Fountain Home" and "Wild Irish Rose."

Will Cozad talked interestingly of the life of Thomas Jefferson, for which the evening came to close with community singing of a-time songs, with Mrs. Holman at the piano. Sharing the enjoyable meeting with the Santa Ana Sons and Daughters, were several members of the Fullerton camps, Sons and Veterans.

Guests Greeted By Relief Corps

Woman's Relief Corps No. 17, et in K. P. hall Wednesday with members, 18 officers, and three visitors present. The latter were Mrs. Mae Clark of Frank M. Thomas Corps No. 9, Marshall, W. Va.; Mrs. Catherine Outram, Boston Corps No. 35, Seattle, Wn.; and Mrs. Margery Martin, of John Marsh No. 74, Redwood Falls, Minn. One hundred and five calls were made and 38 bouquets sent to the sick and shut-in since last meeting. The charter was draped in memory of three departed members, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Rogers and the corps' beloved past president, Mrs. Carrie Eyer. After a pot-luck dinner served at noon by the Social club to members of the corps and post, M. Grishy, patriotic instructor of the post, gave a very interesting talk on the life and history of U. S. Grant.

Showers Given For Newlyweds

YORBA LINDA, April 29.—Two showers were given this week for Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Harwood, who were recently married. Wednesday evening, 28 girls, schoolmates and friends of the bride, met in the social hall of the Friends church for a "shower party."

In the center of the table an opened umbrella covered the many lovely gifts. Later in the evening, a supper was served. Favors in the form of umbrellas were used. Tuesday evening the young bride and groom were entertained at the Methodist church, where the Ladies' Aid society of which Mrs. E. D. Jacobs is president, gave them a miscellaneous shower. Forty people were present and gifts of aluminum ware, silver, china, glass and linen were presented the young couple.

abroad as representative of his country in France, Holland and England and was in 1785 the first ambassador of the United States to the court of St. James. His son, John Quincy Adams, was sixth president of the United States and also represented his country abroad. His grandson, the present secretary of the navy, has ably edited his writings.

Mr. Adams' uncles were Henry Adams, the autobiographer of "The Education of Henry Adams," and the other, Charles Francis Jr., one-time president of the Union Pacific railroad, and colonel of a negro cavalry regiment in the Civil war.

He began his amateur racing at about the age of 10 and was soon sailing about Quincy bay in his own sail boats. He has built a string of boats of what are called "oo" boats for racing of which, of course, he has been the somewhat stern skipper, according to reports, viz: Papoose (1887); Baboon (35-footer); Gossoon, (40-footer) in which he beat Captain Barr in the Scotch cutter, Milnerva; Harpoon (1892) in which he won the Golet cup at Newport; Rooster; Crooner.

The first week of March his resignation went to 55 concerns. It is said that he will go about jacking up the navy with his usual quiet determination and will most likely listen with the well bred man's patience to selfish advice and ulterior suggestions, then bark a sea dog's NO!

Although somewhat austere in manner and conservative in principle, he is not a dry, but is regarded by his friends as slightly moist.

D. of U. V. Holds Business Session

Members of Sarah A. Rounds Tent No. 10, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, held their usual interesting session Tuesday in K. of P. hall, with the president, Mrs. Maud Sutton, in charge.

Eleven bouquets of flowers and 38 calls on sick shut-in members and veterans, were reported. Two Civil War comrades were remembered with special flowers and cards on their birthdays. An expenditure of $18 was made on patriotic work, and the final report of the afternoon was that on child welfare work, given in interesting manner by Mrs. Edith Moore.

Tent No. 10 was invited to attend the institution of a new tent in Riverside, and many of the members expressed their intention of accepting the invitation. A pleasant feature of the meeting was the presence of Comrade Hungerford of the local G. A. R. post.

At the last census between 600,000 and 700,000 people in London were living overcrowded to the extent of more than two to a room, and of these close on 150,000 lived more than three to a room.

Addresses Heard Yesterday In Santa Ana Churches

LOVE'S WASTE EXPLAINED BY REV. BUCHANAN

"Love's Wastefulness" was the topic of a sermon given in the First Christian church here yesterday. The Rev. E. W. Matz, pastor, talked on the founding of the Evangelical church in this country and also of the origin of the church in Santa Ana at the morning and evening services.

Both stories expressed the indomitable and aggressive force of the church as it has stood staunchly for over a hundred years for God and righteousness.

The Rev. Mr. Matz gave a graphic description of the first classes of Jacob Albright, the honest tiler, who founded the church in 1838. In the evening he told how the first meetings of the church began here in the home of H. W. Rohrs and were conducted by the Rev. R. Stahl in 1839.

"Who in all the world understood the meaning of love until Jesus came into the world? We had examples of mother love and friendship love before Jesus came, but none of us understood the real definition of love until Jesus revealed it in His death on the cross. If our lives are lifted out of the little things it will be love that does it."

"The text we have selected for our morning message is one freighted with futility thought. The scene was in Bethany, and it was the house of Simon the leper, one whom Jesus had cured from this loathsome disease, and to show his gratefulness, he had made a feast and invited the Lord and the disciples to dine with him. While they were reclining at the table, in the midst of their conversation a woman came up from behind Christ and without words broke the alabaster cruse of precious ointment. It meant a whole year's work of an average laborer and she poured this ointment upon Christ's head as He sat at the meal. Whatsoever Mary did in her life that might not have been in harmony with God's laws has been forgotten and this act of love has made her one of the most famous women in the history of the world."

The disciples had forgotten one thing, that this woman's wastefulness was not the act of love. There was no personal selfishness in this gift. It is the genius of love to give. It is love's way to forget self and lavish everything and Mary's way was love's way when she broke the box and poured the ointment on the feet of Jesus, and being love's way it was God's way, too.

"Can we detect this wastefulness in God's handiwork? Things out here are not measured and weighed on scales; the spirit and the breeze in the ferns on the mountain side. And the millions of flowers that cover the desert at this time of the year is the spirit that caused the alabaster box to be broken. Permit me to say that man is God's only creature that is able in intelligence to perceive and enjoy the beauty of the mountains and desert, the blue sky and its million of stars."

"When Jesus said that Mary's deeds were always to be coupled with his death. He must have recognized that the two were related. Think of God's love in Jesus' death. This death of Jesus is enough to suffice the pardon of all the sins of every man. Why do we make a universal offer and why do we carry the Gospel to the heathen if we are not convinced of this? God so loved the world that he gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth should not perish, but have eternal life." All the millions in America, all the millions of the world coming to Jesus for mercy could never exhaust the merits of His blood. There are unnumbered in Santa Ana and everywhere who are rushing down the incline of life without hope and yet there was room in the heart of Christ for all. There is mercy in the Savior's death for everyone.

"Waste! Waste! Waste! Why should Jesus suffer and die for all if all were never to accept His love? Because love gives and lavishes and dies for its love. Love never asks how little I can do, it always asks how much. It is a magnificent extravagance in love, whether the love of Mary, the love of mother, or love of God."

First Evangelical Church Observes Its Founding Day

Founders' day was observed in the First Evangelical church here yesterday. The Rev. E. W. Matz, pastor, talked on the founding of the Evangelical church in this country and also of the origin of the church in Santa Ana at the morning and evening services.

Both stories expressed the indomitable and aggressive force of the church as it has stood staunchly for over a hundred years for God and righteousness.

The Rev. Mr. Matz gave a graphic description of the first classes of Jacob Albright, the honest tiler, who founded the church in 1838. In the evening he told how the first meetings of the church began here in the home of H. W. Rohrs and were conducted by the Rev. R. Stahl in 1839.

CONTRIBUTE TO LIFE. APPEAL OF REV. HYLTON

The Rev. Roy P. Hylton, pastor of the First Church of the Brethren, talked yesterday on the business of life. His sermon included the following discussion:

"The business of life is to plan and to build. In the nature of the case man is an inhabitant of two worlds. His existence is a world within a world. He has no personal choice as to the kind of world to which he is born, but he is very directly responsible for the kind of habitation he makes for his life. We cannot forever dwell in a world of material structure but the irony of fate decrees that we are to spend eternity in the world of our designing and building."

"The only obvious reason we have for being in the world of human affairs is that we may contribute something towards its improvement. The world of tomorrow is very directly dependent upon how you and I build our own worlds today."

"The only permanent structure man can build is that called character. The lives of men like Paul and Barnabas and Christ will live on when everything else has lost its permanency. Nations of antiquity are forgotten for the characters of men who build with a master skill. A number of years ago a public building collapsed in which a multitude of human lives, young and old, perished. Great concern was manifested in an attempt to place responsibility for the tragedy. More recently the St. Francis dam gave way to the horror and grief of thousands of people. Everybody wanted to know who was responsible. But when a life goes wrong or a character suddenly manifests a flaw, how many are willing to face responsibility for the tragedy?"

"If we take care for the building of these individual worlds, God's world will take care of itself. One dollar spent towards the direction of a child's life is worth more than millions invested in mere structures of material. 'Build thee more stately mansion, Oh my soul, as the swift seasons roll.'"

NOTED PASTORS OF NAZARENE CHURCH MEET

Yesterday was the closing day in the Young People's convention at the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. D. Shelby Corlett, of Kansas City, Mo., general secretary of the N. Y. P. S., spoke at 11 o'clock, taking as his subject, "The Cross of Christian Service."

The Rev. Mr. Corlett took as his foundation the sixth chapter of Paul's letter to the Romans. He dwelt upon the love service to Christ and His church, giving as a picture the 'Love Slaves' of Bible times, who wore the earmark of their love and loyalty to their master.

Rev. Mr. Corlett concluded his part in the convention in the service at 2:30 p. m., and left immediately for Los Angeles where he was to speak twice last evening.

The Rev. O. J. Nease, president of Pasadena college, spoke at the evening service on "Hymns That Are Immortal." Taking as a text the words concerning the last supper: "And when they had sung a hymn they went out."

He stated that they must have chosen as that hymn one of the Psalms of David, perhaps it was a hymn of the Cross, of sacrifice or of courage. He said only Christians can properly sing and interpret inspired hymns.

The Pasadena male quartet furnished special music for the afternoon and evening services.

YOUNG PEOPLE HEAR HARLOW SPEAK ON 'SIN'

In the First United Brethren church, the Rev. R. W. Harlow, pastor, yesterday spoke to the young people on the subject of "Presumptuous Sin." He said that presumptuous sin is confident, bold, adventurous, reckless, insolent sin. It is peculiarly the temptation of eager, virile youth. And it was from such that David cried out to Jehovah to deliver him.

"In every one of these five words the tempestuous shepherd boy is mirrored. They visualize his career. They are his biography," the minister said.

"This scripture was written in the full tide of David's reign, when his body was in full strength, his mind unimpaired, and his soul the battle ground of conflicting emotional emotions; it was written when he was at war constantly with his passions and his pride."

JESUS SEES UNDEVELOPED POWERS FOR GOOD IN MEN, ASSERTS EPISCOPAL RECTOR

"The Vision of Christ" was the theme for a sermon of striking force yesterday morning by the Rev. W. J. Hatter, rector of the Church of the Messiah. The text, chosen from Luke, told the story of the rich Zacchaeus, who climbed a tree to see Jesus pass by.

"As he stood on the edge of the crowd stretching his neck to try and see the man about whom so many were talking, he found it was impossible. Running ahead he climbed a tree and from this vantage point waited to see Jesus pass. But Jesus knew that the rich Zacchaeus was in that tree. When he stood under it he called to him to come down as He would abide with him that day. Jesus saw him. He saw what was in his heart. So today He sees us, He sees what is in our hearts. He understands. He knows. He sees."

"He sees the undeveloped powers for good in men and women. He sees them before they seek Him. If you would see God's feet follow Jesus or His mission of love and mercy. If you would see God's face that of Jesus as He turns to look at Peter while going from room to room at His trial. Sixty passages in the Bible tell of the vision of Jesus."

"He sees those who dishonor Him. He knows all about them. Under the water, in the air, everywhere, He sees them. None of us can get out of the line of His vision. We see our friends, neighbors and people of our city. We see the smile that often covers the distress, the sorrow, the trouble that they carry. But Jesus sees the aching heart, the distress, the trouble, and seeing, He understands."

WORDS OF PAUL CONTAINED IN SCIENCE VERSE

The Scriptural assurance from Proverbs, "He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness, and honour," was the Golden Text for the lesson-sermon on "Probation After Death," Sunday, in Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Lesson-Sermon consisted of citations from the Bible and correlative selections from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

Among the Scriptural verses were the words of Paul to Titus: "For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lusts, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world; looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ; who gave himself for us, that he might redeem us from all iniquity, and purify unto himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works."

The regular weekly business meeting of the class was announced for 7 o'clock tomorrow night in the First Christian church.

FAITHFULNESS OF STEPHEN IS PASTOR'S TOPIC

The Rev. G. F. Pauschert, pastor of the St. Peter's Lutheran church, told the story of Stephen's faithfulness at the Sunday service.

He said in part:

"The story of Stephen's faithfulness unto death is extremely fascinating. The crown of life is promised to such only as are faithful unto death. This is true whether their death be a natural one, or for the sake of Jesus, like Stephen's and all the countless other martyrs' ever since."

"Stephen was a spiritual man, he had shown by his life and works that he was a faithful and conscientious believer and a dependable member of the church. When a division of the work in the congregation became imperative, Stephen was chosen to head the commission. It was in perfect accord with the rule which works everywhere, that when a man is needed for some particular position a person is chosen who has been found faithful in perhaps lower positions. The business world is full of instances where men have worked up from the lowest to the highest position. It is always done by being faithful in the least, then opportunity is given to try oneself in the greater things."

"It is said that there were 460 synagogues in Jerusalem at this time. Stephen probably spoke in one of them when he castigated the leaders in Israel for their unfaithfulness to the prophets and the Son of man. He spoke plainly. He pointed out that Jesus was the Christ, and that the law of Moses, such as circumcision, and the various sacrifices, would be done away with. He was hailed before the council and given

Evangelist Urges His Listeners To 'Fight Good Fight'

J. W. Saunders, evangelist in the Southside Church of Christ, delivered his sermon Sunday morning on the subject, "Fight the Good Fight of Faith." He approached his thought in the following manner:

"These words of Paul addressed to Timothy are applicable to all. Life is a constant struggle, and success only comes to him who is ready to face and battle against the things that have a tendency to pull down. This is especially true of the Christian life."

"The Christian must be sure that he is really fighting on the side of God. To fight on any other side will lead only to disaster. Gamaliel recognized this when he warned the council persecuting the apostles to let them alone. He pointed out that if these men were really on the side of God it was useless to oppose them, while on the other hand, if they were imposters, their work comes to naught."

The annual earning power of employed boys 14, 15 and 16 years of age, who are attending day continuation schools in the state of New York, approximates $50,000,000.

A hearing. When he continued to point out the sins of the leaders the meeting broke up in disorder and he was led out by the mob and stoned to death.

"What a contrast. His enemies condemn and stone Stephen, not in a judicial manner, but in lawless violence and with bitter malice; Stephen on his part, offers prayer for their souls. Here are the two types of men in the world: The unconverted man, wholly under the power of sin and the evil one, and the man of God, who was born again and led by the spirit of Christ, and who patterned his prayer after that of his Master, 'Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do.'"

'MASTERPIECE OF LOVE' TOPIC OF REV. M'PEAK

"The Masterpiece of Love" was the topic of the sermon given yesterday morning in the United Presbyterian church. Taking his text from the book of Romans, the Rev. W. H. McPeak used the verse "Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good."

He said in part:

"This text places good and evil over against each other. They are and have always been antagonists. There is no harmony between them as there is no similarity between light and darkness, heaven and hell, God and Satan. The antagonism between them is absolute and everlasting. This one thing, however, is most encouraging in that conflict—the good will win. Evil is not irresistible nor invincible. Good will win for God is good."

"The only way the old world knew to treat evil, before Jesus came, was by reprisal and retribution. The old rule was 'an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth.' Jesus changed the rule for the malleable fist. Someone has called this 'The Masterpiece of Love,' overcoming evil with good. Abraham Lincoln said, 'I have tried, as I have gone along, to pluck a thorn and plant a rose where I thought a rose would grow.' The Masterpiece of Love was Jesus overcoming evil by going about doing good."

France and other parts of western Europe receive less rain than the eastern United States but since the showers are lighter and more frequent, less water is lost by drainage than in this country where more sunny days and harder rains are more common.

Diamond Tires

FRAHM'S SERVICE STATION, located in Anaheim at the intersection of Lincoln street and Euclid avenue, (better known as the Garden Grove Road) was built a little over 10 years ago by Paul Frahm, and almost immediately leased to the present owner, E. H. Frahm, who has operated the station ever since, with the exception of a short time about three years ago. Mr. Frahm is assisted at the station by his wife and Mr. G. Manske.

This station, because of its convenient location for inter-city communicators, has rapidly grown in popularity, and is reputed to be one of the finest, if not THE finest, service station in that entire vicinity. The beauty of the station, and its handy service features plus the perfect service given to all who stop, has been an outstanding factor in this growth to popularity.

DIAMOND TIRES have been a featured product at this station for over three years, and were chosen, according to Frahm, after other nationally known tires had been tested out, because of the worthiness of the tire itself and because of the superiority of the distributor's (Herbert Miller, Inc.) service. Frahm now considers these as being tires of quality equalled by few and excelling many.

"The most outstanding factor in my selling these tires," Frahm stated, "is the superiority of the Miller Corporation's service. They are fair, conscientious and just with all their dealings with the dealer, and give him a service that is seldom equalled. When I need a tire that I haven't in stock they give immediate delivery service. They do all they can to assist me in giving my patrons perfect service, and are 'behind me' in all steps I decide to take. It is a superior service that I more than appreciate."

Approaching Wedding Is Incentive for Party

The announcement of the forthcoming marriage of Miss Dora McWaters, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McWaters, and Everett Lutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Lutz, has been greeted by a series of friendly affairs honoring the couple, the most recent of which was a bridge party given by Mrs. Myrtle Anderson.

Miss McWaters, who is secretary of the Santa Ana high school, and Mr. Lutz both attended the local high school and junior college and afterwards continued their studies at the University of California at Berkeley. Mr. Lutz was prominent in athletics both here and in college.

Following an afternoon of bridge, prizes were awarded Mrs. Wayne Faulk and Mrs. Howard Lutz, a dainty refreshment course was served by the hostesses who were assisted by Mrs. H. L. Bowe. Appointments were carried out in the delicate colors expressed in the flowers used in profusion about the home.

Those present for the affair besides the hostesses, Mrs. Anderson, were Mrs. Charles McWaters, Mrs. Phillip Lutz, Mrs. Donald Lutz, Mrs. Howard Lutz, Mrs. Gordon Middlebrook, Mrs. H. L. Bowe, Mrs. Michael Reed, Mrs. Wayne Faulk, Mrs. Darwin Scott, Mrs. Dora McWaters, Miss Dorothy Mayhew, Miss Carol Eskine, Miss Lena Belle Bryant, Miss Adele Lutz, Miss Lina Dunn, Miss Catherine McMullen, Miss Nancy Elder and Miss Elizabeth Baker.

Dana Point to Be Scene Of Merry Gathering

Dana Point, famed for parties of the Santa Ana junior college students, will again be the scene of a merry gathering tomorrow night when members of the Literary club of the college hold a picnic.

Journeying to the Point in the late afternoon, the students will enjoy games on the beach and a steak barbecue, with T. H. Glenn assuming the role of chef.

Those who are expected to participate in the event are Miss Virginia Thomas, Miss Helen Reynolds, Wylie Carlyle, Miss Janet Wilson, Miss Sherrill Spurgeon, Miss Florence Caverly, Lyles McNairy, Miss Corinne Nelson, Curtis Bowman, Ray Rindman, Miss Dorothy Harmon, Miss Elizabeth Mater, David Cherry, Leonard Moore, Neal Harlow, Miss Eleanor Turner, and T. ## Colorful Bridge Party And Shower Held at Country Club

Gray skies of Saturday were forgotten by guests of Mrs. C. V. Doty and Miss Margaret Paterson who gathered at the Santa Ana Country club for a bridge luncheon honoring Miss Paterson's sister, Miss Melba Paterson whose wedding is to be an event of June.

The lovely bride-to-be, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Paterson of 523 East Chestnut avenue, is married to James F. Tapscott of San Francisco.

Quantities of colorful spring flowers were massed about the card room and the solarium where the delicious luncheon was served at three large tables, decked in gay spring colors.

Following several bridge games, scores were added and Mrs. M. B. Lacy, who scored high, was presented with an Italian luncheon set, and Mrs. Allen Smith of Berkeley, second high, and Mrs. George H. Halden of Oakland, low, received pretty linen guest towels.

A charming feature of the affair was the presentation of the many lovely gifts to Miss Paterson. This was done by little Miss Billie Lacy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Lacy, and Master Albert Resnick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Resnick, who dressed as bride and groom, entered the room to the strains of Lohengrin. Wedding March played by Miss Marian Estelle Doty, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Doty.

After parading before their enraptured audience, the tiny couple left the room to return with a wagon piled high with interesting packages for the honoree.

Adding to the delightful occasion was the brief program of piano selections presented by Miss Doty who gave "Slumber Song" by John Powell, and "Torch Dance" by Edward German.

The guests list included Miss Murrell Knox, Miss Ruth Ann Walker, Mrs. Francis Selway, Miss Bonnie Dunham, Miss Anne Tarver, Miss Virginia Berry, Miss Maria Diehl, Miss Jean Rowland, Miss Edith Burkett, Miss Lucy Holmes, Miss Sara Hales, Miss Beth Westcott, Miss Edith Westcott, Miss Cora Sexton, Miss Ethel Stuart, Miss Martha Whitson, Mrs. M. B. Lacy, Mrs. J. A. Tarpley, Mrs. Edward Walder, Miss Helen Battey, Miss Evelyn Armour, Miss Virginia Slabaugh, Mrs. C. D. Brown, Miss Mary Belle Wall, Miss Dorothy Maroon, Miss Rowena Moore, Mrs. Fred Gregory, Miss Emily Holmes, Mrs. A. H. Paterson, Mrs. W. P. Baker, Mrs. C. M. Isaacson, Miss Alice Majors, and Miss Marian Doty.

Out of town guests were Mrs. George Halden, Miss Blanche Halden and Mrs. H. B. McCarter of Oakland, Miss Elizabeth Finch, Mrs. Allen Smith and Mrs. K. M. Tapscott of Berkeley, Mrs. H. B. Kueny, Miss Jeanette Winters, Mrs. Arthur Crossman, Miss Marie Carothers, Mrs. Lewis Reark, Mrs. F. H. Littlehales, Mrs. E. S. Sharp, Miss Lucille Lowell and Mrs. Maurice Scott of Los Angeles, Miss Helen Demming of Redlands, Miss Doris Goff of Laguna Beach, Mrs. Roy Kidder, Miss Martha Adams, Miss Lovenia O'Toole and Mrs. R. H. Lühring of Anaheim, Mrs. Kingsley Tuttle of San Diego, Miss Elizabeth Ott of Long Beach, Mrs. E. A. Drinkwater of San Jose, and Mrs. Arol Norton of Balboa.

YOU and your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins of "White Gables," 1542 North Ross street, had as guests yesterday, Mrs. Watkins' nephews and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Riesland of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. La Verne Gulley of this city. They also entertained at the end of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gulley of Los Angeles, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Alva Sturges. Walter Gulley has just returned from a six months' business trip to Boston and other cities of the east.

William G. Knox, city manager, with Mrs. Knox and their daughter, Miss Marjorie, 935 Oak street, spent yesterday at Lake Elsinore and the Norconian club where they enjoyed a round of golf.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Warren and their daughter, Miss Mildred Warren, of Santa Monica, spent the week-end in Santa Ana with relatives.

Mrs. Mary Baxter of 110 West First street is spending this week in Escondido with friends.

Miss Evelyn Snodgrass of Long Beach spent the week-end here with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Peters, West First street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Slater of Sydney, Australia, who are staying at the Mission Inn, Riverside, and Dr. and Mrs. A. T. Vance of Los Angeles were guests yesterday of Mrs. Lyman Tremaine, Haddon courts.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barr Burns and Mrs. Emma French of this city spent the week-end in San Diego. Miss Kathleen Evans of Pomona were week-end guests of Miss Mabel Miller of 306 South Birch street.

Louise Barrett, who is connected with the forest service offices in San Francisco is visiting his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Barrett, of 1714 Spurgeon street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Livingston of Los Angeles, formerly of Santa Ana, visited relatives in this city yesterday.

Ellen Beach Yaw Will Appear Here Friday

All roads will lead to the Santa Ana high school auditorium on Friday night, when the most famous of American singers, Ellen Beach Yaw, and her noted accompanist, Georgiella Lay, will appear in concert under the auspices of the Julia Lathrop P-T. A.

Mrs. Roy Horton, Mrs. Frank Lansdown, Mrs. Fred Triplett, Mrs. Ivan McFarlane and Mrs. Adelaide Lowe have been busy in preparing the way for this artist and have been ably assisted by Mrs. J. F. McDonald, Mrs. A. T. Moulton, Mrs. Anna Kester, Mrs. W. L. Walker, Mrs. W. R. Rogers, Mrs. H. E. Switzer, Mrs. M. A. Proctor, Mrs. R. E. West, Mrs. George Wheeler, all members of the association.

The singer has chosen a program of greatest beauty and wide range and no one should miss hearing her rendition of "The Skylark." The memory of this song will long remain in the hearts of her audience. Tickets are on sale at the Julia Lathrop school and at the Grand Central Market flower shop. They may be obtained also from members of the association.

Mrs. U. H. Plavan Is Hostess at Smart Bridge Affair

The new lounge in the Santa Ana cafe was transformed into a veritable bower of flowers Saturday afternoon when it was chosen as the setting for a smart bridge luncheon given by Mrs. U. H. Plavan of North Main street. A profusion of sweet peas in pastel tints and dainty Cecil Brunner rosebuds were used in arranging an attractive centerpiece for the large table where the luncheon was served.

Mrs. Plavan was assisted in greeting her guests and in hostess duties throughout the afternoon by her two charming young sisters-in-law, Miss Wilma Plavan and Miss Edith Plavan, and by Mrs. Bert Miles.

Several merry games of bridge occupied the afternoon hours and when tallies were added it was learned that Miss Patsy Swales was the fortunate possessor of high score with Mrs. Roland Thompson second high and Miss Louise Montgomery low. Each received an appropriate gift as did Mrs. H. T. Dunning who cut for a prize.

The guest list included Mrs. James Tucker, Mrs. Harold Brown, Mrs. L. L. Marchant, Mrs. L. A. West, Miss Alverda West, Miss Frances Battey, Mrs. C. M. Moxley, Mrs. Dean Collier, Mrs. L. L. Plavan, Mrs. Paul Plavan, Mrs. Harold Swift, Mrs. Hannah Tucker, Mrs. Louise Montgomery, Mrs. Gertrude Montgomery, Mrs. Roland Thompson, Mrs. Frank Fleming, Miss Maude Moore, Miss Opal Dodd, Miss Edith Plavan, Miss Wilma Plavan, Mrs. O. H. Egge, Mrs. Frances Egge, Mrs. W. D. Griffith, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. Roland Alexander, Mrs. R. L. Obar, Mrs. Jesse Smith, Mrs. Bert Miles, Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mrs. S. A. Moore, Mrs. Orin Robertson, Mrs. Walter Tubach, Mrs. Tarver Montgomery, and Mrs. John Echols of Santa Ana.

Out of town guests were Mrs. A. M. Anderson, Mrs. W. D. Young, Mrs. L. W. Blodgett, Mrs. Agnes Gothard, Mrs. Charles Brewster, Mrs. S. S. Syverson, Mrs. Chris King, Mrs. C. A. Andrews of Long Beach; Mrs. H. V. Anderson of Los Angeles.

Players of Southland Entertained at Tea In "The Barn"

Social activities of the Santa Ana Community Players' association in connection with the annual Tournament of One-act Plays held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, culminated Saturday afternoon in a delightful tea given in The Barn, home of the host group.

Sprays of greenery and bowls of colorful flowers lent a festive air to the shabby but beloved Barn, an air that was intensified by the smart afternoon frocks worn by feminine guests, and the cordial hospitality extended by the hosts.

Mrs. Charles C. Brisco and Mrs. Alfred Horn had charge of decorations and refreshments, and were aided by Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Mrs. J. U. Viau.

Behind the bowers of golden Mexican poppies, blue forget-me-nots and delicately tinted columbine of the tea table decorations, Miss Edith Cornell, gowned in a smart georgette frock of rainbow hues, and Mrs. Franklin H. Williams in soft blue georgette, served the steaming amber beverages and little cakes of the tea menu.

Music as a background to the conversation, was to the muted accompaniment of a radio program.

Of special interest to the out-of-town guests was the photographic history of the Santa Ana players, maintained in a large volume given place of honor on the small stage of The Barn.

Saturday's tea was not the only social affair complimenting the players of the Southland coming as entrants in the tournament, for attractive little dinners were given at St. Ann's Inn both Thursday and Friday nights, as a preliminary to the dramatic offerings to follow in the Yost Spurgeon theater.

Those present for the party included the Misses Arthura Adams, Myrtle Adams, Madeline DeBrower, Nadine Stice, Betty Boosey, Kathryn Stockton.

The completed Boulder dam will store enough water to cover the state of Ohio to a depth of one foot. It will hold all the water the Colorado river can send down in a year and a half. The estimated cost of this dam is $125,000,000.

Wedding Date Announced For June at Pretty Bridge Party

The wedding date of Miss Verle Boyer, daughter of Mrs. Claudia Boyer of Orange, and Cecil Chambers, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Chambers of Brea, was announced Saturday night at an attractively appointed bridge party given by Miss Boyer and her mother at the Orange Woman's clubhouse. The young people are to be married June 9.

The announcement was made at the supper hour when the pretty wishing wells that centered each table were found to contain tiny cards bearing the names of Miss Boyer and Mr. Chambers and the date of their approaching wedding.

The lounge of the clubhouse was very lovely with the baskets of sweet peas, iris, and snapdragons in pastel tints that were arranged in artistic fashion. The same lovely colors were expressed in the pretty corsages that were presented each guest as she arrived. Particularly lovely was the corsage worn by Miss Boyer that had been the gift of her fiancé.

In greeting their guests Mrs. Boyer and her daughter were assisted by Miss Elizabeth Palmer and Miss Gladys Palmer of Orange and later in the evening when bridge scores were added and the tables prepared for the dainty two-course supper, they were assisted by Miss Mabel Miller of this city and Miss Vesta Curl of Tustin.

The attractive bridge prizes were awarded Miss Helen Siphard, Mrs. Carl Dole, and Miss Lola Gebhard.

Miss Boyer is very popular in this city as she attended "the local junior college following her graduation from the Orange Union high school. She graduated from the University of California at Berkeley in 1927 and since has been teaching in an Orange grammar school.

Mr. Chambers is connected with the Texaco Oil company at Santa Fe. He received his schooling in Oklahoma from which state he came to California six years ago. Those invited to the announcement party were Miss Mabel Miller, Miss Blanche Thompson, Miss Mary Beasley, Miss Marian Norman, Miss Herbert Eberole, Mrs. Martha Miller and Miss Mary Miller of Santa Ana; Miss Luane Leech, Miss Mary Sheffer, Miss Mary K. Lowry, Miss Lois Hallman, Miss Marjorie Strain, Miss Florence Riddle, Miss Helen Kobler, Miss Olive Gebhard, Miss Lila Gebhard, Mrs. Richard Robinson, Mrs. Lela Thompson, Miss Faye Bortz, Mrs. Carl McDannell, Mrs. J. D. McDannell, Mrs. W. T. Syester, Miss Helen Siphard, Mrs. Elizabeth Braiser, Miss Nell Armstrong, Miss Elizabeth Palmer and Miss Gladys Palmer of Orange; Mrs. Marvin Finley of La Habra, Mrs. Cale Dole of Long Beach, Miss Kathleen Evans and Miss Esther Wilke of Pomona, Miss Veta Curl of Tustin, Miss Lurline Chambers, Miss Mozelle Chambers, and Mrs. B. F. Chambers of Brea, Miss Jessie Wynn of Artesia, and Miss Ruth Gredis of Anaheim.

Santa Anans Attend Party in Anaheim

Mr. and Mrs. Cullen Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Allen of this city were guests one evening last week at a delightful bridge party given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ahlstrom of Anaheim.

When bridge scores were added at the close of the evening's play, Mrs. Emma Hutton, Mrs. Herbert Allen, Clayton Allen, and Fred Hart held high scores and Ray Hollenhorst was low. Each received attractive gifts.

Guests included, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer and Mr. and Mrs. Allen of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hart of Orange, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Allen, Mrs. Emma Hutton, and Ray Hollenhorst of Anaheim.

Santa Ana Man Wins Fair Pasadena For Bride

Miss Alberta Crane, lovely blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Crane of Pasadena, became the bride of Ray Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Smith of 2405 Valencia avenue, this city, at a pretty ceremony Saturday night at the Little Church of the Flowers in Glendale.

No lovelier time could have been chosen for the wedding for which the church is filled are in full bloom now and many a beautiful setting for the service that was performed by the Rev. H. L. Caldwell, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church of Pasadena.

The golden haired bride was gown in simple white satin, her long, misty veil falling from a bandeau of orange blossoms to the floor. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, lilies of the valley, and maidenhair fern.

Mrs. E. C. Richards, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and she wore pale green georgette and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Miss Berle Lowe was the other bridesmaid and she carried a bouquet of orchid sweet peas that harmonized with her frock that was of a similar tint.

Tiny little Miss Phyllis Richards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards, in brief taffeta frock, was flower girl.

Allan M. Smith served his brother as best man and George Preble of this city and Sanford McDonald of Los Angeles were ushers.

Two beautiful songs were given by C. L. Custer, leader of the choir of the Calvary Baptist church, preceding the wedding.

The wedding march was played by the organist of the church. A wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents when dainty ices and cake were served by Mrs. Crane and her bevy of charming assistants. The home was decorated with a profusion of roses and orange blossoms to carry out the bridal motif.

Following a motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Smith will go to Laguna Beach for a short vacation before returning to Pasadena where they will make their home.

Mr. Smith graduated from the Santa Ana high school in 1926 and entered the University of Southern California. He transferred from there to the Los Angeles Chiropractors College where he is now a student.

His bride, formerly of this city, attended the local high school but graduated from the Pasadena high school. Since her graduation she has been employed in the Model store in that city.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Southeast section of the Aid society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a birthday dinner at the church Thursday night at 6:30 o'clock. Members of the section and their husbands have been invited to the affair and each one will have to pay, according to his age. Those planning to attend the dinner have been asked to notify Mrs. E. F. Gaebe or Mrs. R. J. Brown.

Spurgeon Memorial Missionary society will hold an all day meeting Wednesday at the church.

Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church will meet for a 12 o'clock luncheon Wednesday. The business meeting will be held at 1:30 o'clock.

The Senior guild, Church of the Messiah, will meet in regular session on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parish hall. As this is the last meeting before the fete of Friday every member is asked to be present.

The Holy Trinity church of Covina will be host to the Los Angeles convocation on Tuesday, the sessions opening at 10 o'clock.

County Women's Clubs Are Interested in Preventorium

Members of the Women's clubs of the county are taking a deep interest in the Orange County Health camp, this interest having been heightened recently by a number of arresting facts presented to them by Mrs. S. W. Stanley, purchasing agent for the camp, at the annual convention of clubwomen of this district.

The impressive simplicity of Mrs. Stanley's talk brought to her audience a deep sense of the importance of the work being done at the camp, and ways and means by which the county federation may assist in the work of financing the camp, are being considered.

A tea was given by the Santa Ana Ebelle club last week and the proceeds, $45, were presented to the camp. This report was brought to the convention by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, president of the Santa Ana society.

Mrs. Stanley stated that it cost $123 a day to keep a child at the camp and that those parents who were able, paid $30 a month for the privilege of keeping children there who are in need of gaining health and strength.

A resolution drafted by Dr. Evaline Pao, Mabel K. Davis and Mrs. C. C. Violett asked that all clubwomen of the county go on record as favoring county aid for all indigent children needing the care and assistance of the Orange county preventorium.

Garden Grove Home Is Setting for Pretty Supper Party

Glenn Stockbridge and Miss Ruth Winter, who are to be married May 19 were complimented Saturday night at a delightfully appointed bridge party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hein of Garden Grove with Mr. and Mrs. Hein and Miss Irene Blower acting as hosts.

The gay flowers in the many cheery tones of April were arranged about the home in charming fashion and on each of the card tables where the delicious supper was served was a crystal basket of sweet peas in pastel tints.

A happy feature of the supper hour was the reading of the amusing fortunes found at each place after which gifts of linen and kitchen utensils were presented Miss Winter and Mr. Stockbridge.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. James Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Marks, Miss Violet Feltner, Miss Eleanor Guyer, Miss Frances Knudson, Miss Vera Morrison, Miss Hazel Smith, Miss Faye Bortz, Miss Lydia Fisher, Miss Frances Hein, Miss Mildred Vieira, Miss Gladys Finuf, Miss Bernice Finuf, Miss Elizabeth Gilmore, Miss Ruth Winter, Miss Hazel Salisbury, Miss Helen Salisbury, Richard Taylor, Glenn Stockbridge, Rae Walwood, Victor Morrison, Frank Humphrey, Lloyd Smith, Millard Beamer, and Hustie Snow.

Correct Time, Please!

Arthur Brisbane, in a recent syndicated article in "Today's" column, stated that in seven days New York's Telephone Company collected the tidy sum of $3858 for answering "What time is it?" Those who asked for the time and paid for the answer number 77160.

Mr. Brisbane concluded his comments on the subject with this pithy piece of advice—"Get a reliable timepiece." If money talks—and they say that it does, those 77,160 nickels dropped in the slots of New York's telephones, loudly proclaim the fact that the public wants the correct time and is willing to pay for it.

The WOMAN'S DAY

By ALLENE SUMNER

Lady Grace Drummond Hay is planning an around-the-world cruise in the Graf Zeppelin. In which she made its first trans-Atlantic trip as the only woman passenger. She thus got more publicity for the Graf than any other element.

Funny how we talk in this modern day of the "death of the womanly influence," and the "utter destruction of woman's power," and yet the commercial world uses the woman presence over and over again for commercial gain.

"EASY SEX"
Women, they say, are the "easy sex." Listen, sisters and brethren, Walter Cyr of Concordia, Kansas, ran away from home and tried to kill himself so that he could get away from life insurance agents whom he could never turn down.

Few indeed are the families who do not have their legends of the set of books dabbled bought when the babies needed shoes.

"LIKE HER DAUGHTER"
"Like daughter, like mother," is probably a reversal of an old adage now being said concerning Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of famous red-headed evangelist, Almie Semple McPherson. Almie was accused, though acquitted, of "love-nesting," and now her name is accused of trying to inveigle some old geezer into matrimony. Why quibble at the romantic strain in human souls? After all, Almie puts on a good show, and so does her mama.

After all, too, blackmail is always out after celebrities, and even the mothers of celebrities.

MAYBE ALL THE SWEETER
Somehow it seems too bad that when Mrs. Gann, half-sister and official hostess of Vice President Curtis, was invited to that nice dinner given by the Chilean legation, and took her seat of honor as ranking lady present, she had that distinction only after all the tumult and shouting about it.

Still, perhaps not so bad as that. Some personalities enjoy the fruits of victory after a terrific battle more than easily won pomegranates.

NICE JOB
Miss Mona Oser, a biochemist, transferred 600 Albino rats down Fifth Avenue the other day, taking them from one laboratory to the other. When the queer outfit arrived, Miss Oser was $16 to the good, as she had 604 rats, worth $4 a head.

That's not the point of the story. The point is that women are doing more and more interesting things these days, even to raising rats with all the care given babies, in order to experiment with vitamins upon them.

Club Chorus
Members of the Woman's club chorus will provide the program at the meeting of the Woman's club on May 6 when Mrs. Harry Haynes and Mrs. D. A. Casey will be the hostesses.

Visit Relatives
Mrs. Paul Clark and two sons left yesterday to spend the week end at the home of relatives in Saugus.

Steak Bake
Miss Margaret Dean and Miss Myrtle MacVean were hostesses to the teachers of the Intermediate school at a steak bake, yesterday afternoon at home sites selected by them on Orange Park acres. Guests were provided with hoes and rakes and put to work to help clear the ground of weeds. When all of the growth had been cleared away, a huge bonfire was built and juicy steaks were roasted. Coffee and other good things to eat were served with the steaks.

Before sunset the teachers enjoyed hikes on the nearby hills enjoying the beautiful views that may be seen from these points of vantage.

Seats having been placed by the hostess around a circle of pepper trees and a huge stone fireplace built in the center. Songs were sung and stories told by the light of the burning logs. The moon climbing over the hills, furnished a flood of light for the guests' departure.

Those sharing the happy occasion were George Stoner and daughter, Edith, Miss C. Seaman, Miss Mable Lush, Miss Rachel Williams, Miss Alma Bode, Miss C. L. Thomas, Miss Florence Moreland, Mrs. Carl Lester, Mrs. Carrie Riddle, and Mrs. Louise Bradshaw.

Brea

Cards
A card party given by the Knights of Pythias in the card rooms Tuesday evening with Mrs. A. E. Lynes, chairman, was successful with nine table of cards and one of lotto. Mrs. C. C. Garves, Mrs. J. Holderback, Mrs. Louella Cox, Joe Anderson, Wheeler of Brea canyon, J. E. Russell, won prizes in bridge.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard Danieller and Mrs. Folkemer.

Women's Club
The Brea Woman's club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Florence Knight of Yorba Linda, state chairman of birds flowers and wild life was the speaker, and she talked on birds, flowers and the conservation of natural resources.

She said that the state of California has a larger variety of birds and flowers than any state except Texas.

Mrs. Alexander Anderson, of Fullerton, accompanied by her mother, sang a group of Spanish songs.

At the close of the meeting some pictures of desert flowers were shown. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Lillian Peterson and her committee.

Legion Auxiliary
The Legion auxiliary met Wednesday evening at the Legion hall. Reports from the last county council meeting were given, telling of the activities of other auxiliaries of the county.

Plans for a card party to be given on the afternoon of May 9 in Craig hall were made. Both bridge and five hundred will be played.

Mrs. Ella Stumbo is chairman of the affair.

The membership drive closed last night with Mrs. Ruth Temperman winner. The prize offered by Mrs. Florence Mathews for the member winning the most points was won by Mrs. Elsie La Gaffe.

The kitchen fund for the new hall is growing fast.

WEST END
Some critics say that Lillian Gish is at her best when her surroundings are the most unattractive. "La Boheme," for instance, or the drab surroundings of "Broken Blossoms." Others hold that "Annie Laurie," "Romola" or some picture in which she is dressed gorgeously, best sets forth her wistful charm.

But in her latest vehicle the most audacious combination of the two has been achieved. "The Wind," her new Metro-Goldwyn-

At the Theatres

YOST BROADWAY
"The Barker," the first dialogue film made by First National Pictures, delighted a large audience at its first performance at the Broadway theater last night.

"The Barker" has everything to appeal to the public in its talking version. Its emotional effect is greatly heightened, not alone by its dialogue, but by the synchronization of music and of the street carnival cries and sounds.

The story concerns "Nifty" Miller, Barker for a street carnival show, whose young son comes to visit him. Nifty leaves off cursing and drinking and "gives the air" to the Hawaiian dancer with whom he has been living. In a spirit of revenge, she induces Lou, a show girl of easy virtue, to capture the affections of Nifty's son, Chris. They fall in love and leave the carnival to get married. Nifty's anger at the dancer and Lou are appeased in the end.

Sills, Dorothy Mackaill, who is co-featured with him, Betty Compson, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., George Cooper and other members of the cast will achieve new film standing through the perfection of their delivery of the spoken lines.

WEST COAST WALKER
"The Letter," starring Jeanne Eagels, which opened yesterday at the West Coast-Walker theater, is by long odds one of the finest pictures of the season, and the work of Miss Eagels is supreme in point of power and artistry. It is another of the popular all-talking pictures, and those who saw the star in "Rain" or other successes on the legitimate stage, will delight in her work in the Somerset Maugham story. They will be especially pleased with the way in which her remarkable voice is reproduced.

"The Letter" met with the enthusiastic approval of yesterday's crowds at the Walker theater, Miss Eagels, as a lady who loved neither too wisely nor too well, gave a characterization of a woman scorned that will not be forgotten easily. Her magnetic personality held the audience in suspense from the opening scene to the closing one. Little wonder that this superb actress has been worshipped by lovers of the drama in two hemispheres.

O. P. Heggie, brilliant portrayer of many characterizations on the stage, has the important role of the lawyer who saves Miss Eagels from conviction of a murder charge by sacrificing professional ethics. Reginald Owen, as the outraged husband, has a strong role.

Of the additional attractions, the news reel was of special interest to local theater-goers, for one of its events showed the dropping of an airplane from a parachute, recently attracting such crowds to the local flying field.

Mayer vehicle, now playing at the West End theater, sees her in the most primitive of surroundings. The story is Frances Marion's adaptation of Dorothy Scarborough's sensational novel of the southwest "wind country." Miss Gish plays a delicately nurtured Southern girl suddenly thrust into the windstorms, the rigors, the hardships and the elemental passions of the pioneer life.

Lars Hanson, famous Swedish actor, gives a splendid performance in the principal role, a primitive cowboy, who loves the delicately nurtured girl and saves her at last from an almost madness. Montagu Love, Dorothy Cummings, Edward Earle, William Orlamond, Carmendia Johnson and others appear to splendid advantage directed by Victor Seastrom.

"Oh, my," exclaimed the Goofygoo. "It's awful! What am I to do? The Tintin's cabin's falling and they all are tucked inside. I brought them up here in the air, and now it seems it wasn't fair. I never should have taken them on such a high-up ride."

The Times, in the meantime, saw that they were falling, and in awe, they all began to holler, "Help! We're dropping to the ground. Won't someone make this cabin stop before we take an awful flop." The cabin kept on falling, as it swerved around the fourth.

Down through the clouds they came full and kept on dropping down pell mell. It seemed they must have been real high, which added to their plight. A short fall wouldn't be so bad, and many of that sort they would find.
But the one, 'cause this earth was not in sight,
Below the cabin he sensed
There was a thing to do.
The Time watched him closely.
They were very near the ground.
The Goofygoon then got a whack.
He caught the cabin on his back.
It finally balanced upright, and the bunch were safe and sound.

Then Scouty loudly shouted, "Oh! I see a patch of ground below. I fear that's where we're acter. There is this ruthless, characterless element in every nation, no doubt. But the real spirit of our nation, and of many of the other nations is for justice and right.

"It is exceedingly unfortunate that at this time when the nations are outlawing law and seeking to reduce armaments and promote a Court of International Justice that a man of Mr. Coolidge's prominence should notify the world that we are at heart robbers and are restrained only by the military power of the other nations."

"Mr. Coolidge answered his own argument in speaking of the conditions which led up to the World war. According to Mr. Coolidge, preparedness was one of the causes of the war. Let him speak for himself. 'Competition in armaments had become so intense that the burden of expense finally reached a point that there must have been overwhelming pressure to fight, because otherwise the most was making it necessary to reduce armaments.' Then why argue for armies and navies now? Train for war and war is what results. Train for peace and peace will result."

"Yes, I am glad Mr. Coolidge did not choose to run in 1928."

TARVER IS POLY'S MOST POPULAR BOY

Bruce Tarver, captain-elect of the Santa Ana high school football team, was elected the most popular student when the polls closed this noon in the school popularity contest. Tarver had a total of 1655 votes.

Harry Bradley, yell leader, was second choice with 1258 votes.

Convention Here Of Junior Lions Will Attract 150

More than 150 delegates are expected to attend the third annual Junior Lions convention, which is to be held May 17 and 18 in Santa Ana.

Folders announcing the convention were sent to each club in the state, with windshield stickers for automobiles. The design of the Junior Lions pin was used as the design for the stickers.

These features were arranged by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce.

The Santa Ana Junior Lions club was to meet in Ketter's cafe tonight, at which time members expect to make further plans for the convention. New members to be initiated at the dinner meeting tonight include Baxter Geetlin, John Wykes, Louis Hanson and Abbot Mason.

Islands in a river, unless caused by rock outcrops, are continually traveling downstream as the current cuts at the upstream end of the island and deposits at the other end; thus is time changing the position of the island.

The Presidential Secret Service force is made up of nine men. Members of this force accompany the President on all his public and private drives and constantly have him under their scrutiny.

TEAM WORK

The man and the wife, or any two people who will agree to work together, be in earnest, make suggestions and apply them to their time and thought faithfully to this deal, can build about themselves a business second to none. We can arrange to finance your team work up to $100 per week, provided you have a closed car in good condition and will produce at least 15 prospects upon our property on the regular scale of commission. In all of your real estate experience you have never had the opportunity for success which this deal offers you. We expect you to treat us just as you would want to be treated; play fair, that's all. So if you are in need of earnest and permanent connection which is both remunerative and permanent, please write us fully and briefly, phone number, address, age and why you think you could make good if we put you on. No one who is really busy pays any attention to anyone who comes from office to office asking a few questions and drifts out again, so let us and us out on the lost motion and get right down to the practical. Just read this ad over again and if you can honestly comply thereto we have just what you are looking for. There is nothing better or more lucrative for you.

EVENING SALUTATION

All that hath been majestic
In life, or death, since life began,
Is native in the simple heart of all,
The angel heart of man.

AN IMPORTANT WEEK

We wonder if there is any design in this combination of making "cleanup week" and "boys week," the same week, or was it simply because we have sixty-three special weeks now in the year and so some have to double up? When we get 365 we are going to move that the weeks be fractioned off and give each enterprise a day. If the boys note that their week is also designated "cleanup," we can hear them say, "Why do they take it out on us?"

Seriously, however, it is well to place emphasis, of course, at certain periods, on particular things in life. There is nothing more important than the young people. It is possibly unfortunate that undue emphasis is placed upon them by some people at specific periods, for at the conclusion of the period they are apt to say, "Well, that's that," and turn their complete attention to an entirely different matter, to the neglect of the cause to which the previous week had been set apart, until the annual cycle brings it to their attention again.

The theory of this special matter is, of course, founded on the idea that the impact of united effort brings to bear pressure upon those who otherwise might be everlastingly indifferent, and so the value may be great. We are glad to note, especially in respect to "Boys' Week," that some of the churches are taking it up and inaugurating the week by special service and attention given to the boys.

It is easier to do things when you realize that your neighbors and the whole city are engaged in the same enterprise. Some way or other there is an implication in one's conscience that he is neglecting to a greater degree, especially in "cleanup," when he neglects his yard and premises generally, at the very period of time when the great bulk of citizens are doing special work along the "cleanup" line.

This is the week, then, for all of us to get busy. Our premises will keep clean for some time to come if we do a thorough job of it this week, and they will be in fine shape before the summer.

The boys! Well, this week, maybe, we can search our soul to see whether we are doing a thorough service in looking after them to the highest degree. They require the greatest attention fifty-two weeks in the year. But we are going to add a little bit, however, this week, for full measure.

Quite a few farmers in western Kansas have taken to wearing spats, according to a newspaper report. The old west has become a country apparently where you have to die with your spats on.

BOOKKEEPING MACHINES

Now it is announced that a mechanical device which will register complete sales, do the bookkeeping in its entirety, has been patented and is about to be placed on the market. It is claimed that in some offices it will take the place of fifty-nine clerks. This is a great saving of labor and the day was, in our industrial system, when we might expect the fifty-nine clerks who are thereby displaced to find positions in the expanding industries, but under conditions as they are today, the number in industries is not being increased. Their production is being increased, but the production is being increased largely by means of machinery, which, in turn, is displacing men and women.

This is true in almost every industry, in fact, we know of no industry in which it is not true, and it adds to the serious problem of the unemployed. We know that the way of progress does not lie along the line of the destruction of the machine, as the early hand workers in England thought it did. It might have moved along the line of the workers purchasing the machines in the beginning, but this was not to be. Capitalism was developed, and the capitalist owns the machine.

With a few hours of labor, if all work were rightly divided, each individual could make the necessities and many of the luxuries of life each day, but some way or other the ones who are still employed work about the same number of hours, speeded up and under nervous strain because of these very machines, and to hold their jobs against the increasing number of competitors for their jobs, caused by this displacement.

While brains are being paid for the saving of overhead expense and thereby increasing the returns on capital, the greatest reward should come to him who discovers the method by which this saving can be distributed with more equity.

The League for Sensible Clothing decrees the "hatless blousehood" for men this summer. But there will still be old-fashioned males who will cling to the straw hat.

THE STOCK MARKET COMING BACK

After the slump in the stock market in March, things have been gradually coming back. Today stocks are nearly where they were before the break. This is a good sign. It indicates that, on the whole, stocks represent values. They may be selling high, but that is in line with all other commodities. If it be true that what goes up must come down, it appears to be just as true that what goes down must come up. Stocks are very sensitive to earnings, and so long as earnings are good, stocks will stay up.

It now appears that much of the break in March was the result of the lack of credit. There was too much money loaned on stocks, and when the banks began to call in and the interest rates were raised, those who had been carrying too much on margin had to sell. The number of those who had to sell was so great that there was not enough money to absorb the offerings, with the inevitable result that prices sagged, and stocks were thrown on the bargain counter.

There is no less need of caution today than before. But good stocks, which have earnings behind them and before them, will stay where they belong in the long run.

OUTLINES INDIAN PLANS

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, referring to the appointment of James Charles Rhoads as Indian Commissioner, outlined the salient points of the future Indian policy.

Foremost is the aim to make the Indian self-sustaining, self-respecting, no longer to be considered a ward, but a potential citizen. As rapidly as possible he is to have full responsibility for himself.

In order to bring this about, the educational program is to be revised into one of a practical and vocational character and plans are to be matured for absorption of the Indian into industrial and agricultural life.

The activities of the Indian bureau are to be de-centralized as rapidly as possible, and the ultimate goal is the financial elimination of the Indian bureau, that within 25 years. The educational program is to be placed under the supervision of the Bureau of Education and the health program under the Public Health service. There is to be general, rather than specific, legislation of the Indians and a survey of existing laws in which the Indian question is involved.

It is only in the operation of the program that it will prove up. A searchlight has played upon Indian affairs and all possible effort should be made by those interested in the welfare of the Indian to take advantage of the sympathy and peak of determination to improve the government attitude toward the American Indian.

In the situation of having the education of the Indian handled by the Bureau of Education and the health by the Bureau of Health, we sigh to think of the possible involvements in Washington red tape. Slothful bureau employees, with plenty of red tape to serve as an excuse for inactivity, is a hopeless situation. Often it proves an impasse.

Anything that is done constructively, however, will prove of assistance to some of the Indians, and presents great hope.

Making Life Easy

New York Times

To the long list of recent inventions taking toll out of man's estate the self-winding watch was added some time ago and now is placed on general sale. It receives sufficient impulse from the movements of the forearm—it is a wrist watch—to keep going all the time. When it was first invented, lazy and absent-minded folk in particular hailed it and those always looking for novelties were much impressed.

By the time it is extended to all clocks most of the traditions of home will have vanished. At least one celebrated passage in literature has to do with the inexorable routine of winding the clock in the evening. Soon, probably, there will be a machine to walk the dog and put out the cat.

When that is achieved man will no longer have any legs, for he will go everywhere in vehicles; we will fly to St. Cloud for an afternoon of golf and spend week-ends in India shooting tigers. Houses will be a thousand stories high, for airport purposes, and Steel and General Motors will fetch 1000 points. No one except his secretaries will ever see the President, because he will campaign and administer by radio, and Congress will meet on a long-distance hook-up. Sitting on his gallery at Beauvoir Pat Harrison of Mississippi will have a "sharp colloquy" with George H. Moses, shoveling snow at Concord. The Machine Age will have reduced all human communication to wireless, and crops will grow and be manufactured into the necessities of life by pulling switches.

A Woeful Arbiter

San Diego Union

News that the protocol division of the department of state is finally to be abandoned, as a result of the unprofitable debate as to Mrs. Gann's rightful seat at official dinners, must cause a twinge of pain and surprise to even the citizen's most remote from Washington's diplomatic worries. The protocol division, it should be understood, was maintained to settle just such nice points of etiquette as it failed to settle in the case of Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Gann. Its passing leaves official Washington bereft of guidance and helplessly exposed to all manner of official mistakes.

Of course an office maintained to arbitrate questions of what is, after all, a form of snobbery, is not a very democratic office. Possibly it has no place in the government of a republic. At the same time, it is undoubtedly a great practical convenience, and its fault of undue aristocracy might be corrected.

Instead of maintaining such a division only in Washington—an obviously undemocratic practice—one might be established in every city in the country with a population of more than 20,000. Made general, that way, it would be more democratic. Hosts and hostesses in any city, then, might obtain authentic advice on the exact degrees and forms of deference to be accorded any guest. A rating corresponding to Dun and Bradstreet's in the world of finance, might then be arranged to cover social affairs.

A hostess entertaining from a sense of duty has a sufficiently uncomfortable time of it, anyway. An arrangement of this kind would at least obviate the additional discomfort of doing the thing all wrong.

Education and Achievement

Riverside Daily Press

What evidence is there that it pays to maintain good schools? There is much. The resourcefulness and initiative which the American soldier showed in the last war were to no small degree dependent upon his superior education.

It has long been assumed that superior education similarly increased effectiveness in times of peace. Superior accomplishment in practically every line of human endeavor is the result of superior education. Those of superior education have a far greater chance of achieving marked success in life. A recent study gives the following typical results:

Amount of Education	Distinction
Without education	1 in 161,290
Eighth grade education	1 in 40,841
High school education	1 in 1,608
College education	1 in 173

The man with a college education has more than 900 times the chance of achieving success than has the man without education.

The facts indicate clearly that the states that have maintained good school systems are reaping large returns on their investments. The evidence comes from a detailed study of the relationship between school efficiency and the degree to which the people of a state possess the desirable qualities often credited to the influence of good schools.

THE FROGS

When little frogs divest themselves
Of floppy fins and tails
And hop along like tiny elves
Among the mossy vales
The violets twinkle all about,
The wrens and robins sing
And past the shadow of a doubt
The sun has brought the Spring.
And so all day and half the night
They tell the world of their delight.

When little frogs are bigger frogs,
And summer has begun
They sit and gloom on fallen logs,
Beneath the burning sun,
Or further out across the pond
With sleepy half closed eyes
They perch upon a lily frond
To snap at fleeting flies.
But when soft twilight comes along
They join together in a song.

But when the leaves come tumbling down
Like fish in scurrying schools
To flick with flakes of gold and brown
The waters of the pools,
Half hid along the water's edge
The frogs repose all day
To sound from sheltering rush or sedge
A deep and mournful lay.
And like a bell that sadly tolls

THE FOUR X'S

I was interested the other day in watching a chauffeur. He didn't do anything but look after his machine. He listened to it purr. Every once in a while he lifted up the hood and looked on the inside.

He never put any bilge water in the car nor dosed it with poison just to make it feel good. He only put into the car what was necessary to make it run well.

If people took as much care of their bodily machine as that chauffeur did of that automobile they would be better off. In this connection we might observe the 4 X's. They are:

Examination, Excretion, Exercise and Excess.

In the first place, we ought to be examined about once a year to see what's the matter with us or what is liable to happen. It is all right not to think of your health at all, but this negligence should be based upon exact knowledge and not upon ignorance. You might be facing a fatal disease right now. Find out.

In the next place is excretion. The health of the body largely depends upon the perfection of its sewage system. There are three sewers in the body to carry off the waste: the pores, the bowels and the bladder. See that these are open and functioning freely. Do something to bring a sweat every day so the pores will operate. See that the bowels are kept open and you have an action freely once or twice every day. Drink plenty of water, which is the best diuretic in the world.

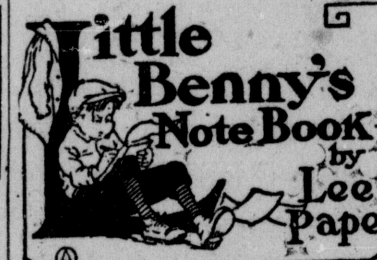

In the third place is exercise. This should be done systematically. Exercise once in a while is as good as none at all. Take any regular system of exercise that brings the unused muscles into play and stick to it faithfully every day. Don't aim to be an athlete, but aim to keep the muscles exercised.

The fourth X is excess. Socrates' motto was, "Nothing too much." Don't stay up too late, don't eat or drink too much nor sleep too much nor exercise too much. Long life depends upon moderation.

In this connection it is an excellent idea to put nothing in your mouth but good food and drink as you need. Don't take alcohol because it does you no good. Tea and coffee also are unnecessary. There is no food value in a cup of coffee except the cream and sugar in it. Be chary in your use of meats as most of us eat meat as a stimulant and not as a food.

The point is not to be a Puritan, but to treat the body so as to make it of the most value to use and to get the most fun out of it.

After supper ma sed to pop, Willyum, the parrot has lent a new word, you'll just die when you hear it.

I dont doubt it, he's got me practically ded already, pop sed.
It was bad enough to have him squawking all note last nite without having you make me get up 3 times to look for berglars, he sed, and ma sed, Now Willyum, Sherlock never squawks without a good reason, he properly herd somebody trying the windows or something. Anyway, Willyum, you'll be delighted with his new word, she sed.

And she went over to Sherlock's cage and started to talk to him, saying, Come on, Sherlock, tell mama who we've been talking about all day.

Why force more words into him?
pop sed. He already abuses the few he knows. Im thinking of presenting him to an institution for the deaf, he sed, and ma sed.
He's been saying the word all day, he's just temperamental like all grate talkers and singers. Come on, Sherlock, whose the most important person in this house? she sed.

Willyum, Sherlock sed loud as anything, and pop sed, Well, the little son of a gun, what do you know about that.

I knew you'd be pleased, ma sed.
Come on, Sherlock, tell mama whose the most wonderful man in the world, she sed, and Sherlock sed, Willyum.

By gollys thats pritty cute, pop
sed. And he went over to the cage, saying, Your all rite, Sherlock, whats my name, what do you say when you think of me?
Bulloney, Sherlock yelled.
Being his other main word, and pop went back and got behind the sporting page agen, sayin, Pride goeth before a fall, I never liked that berd and never expect to.

J. W. McCormac, eminent commander, and W. H. Thomas, generalissimo, of Santa Ana commandery No. 36, Knights of Templar, returned from San Francisco where they attended the annual session of the Grand Commandery of California.

The Santa Ana park commission passed a resolution favoring the adoption of an ordinance making it necessary for a power or telephone company to secure a permit before cutting or trimming any tree growing on Santa Ana streets.

Rain totaling .21 of an inch fell in Santa Ana, bringing the season's total to 19.06 inches for the season.

The Chamber of Commerce committee, R. L. Bisby, F. P. Clarkson, M. A. Yarnell and T. E.
Stephenson, announced that Santa Ana would enter a float in the Fiesta parade to be held in Los Angeles May 2.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

Dictatorship is stealing a march on democracy throughout the Western world.

This advance of dictatorship into territory hitherto held sacrosanct by democracy is something deeper than the decrees of the Lenins, the Mussolinis, and the Rivers.

The fact of dictatorship in Russia, in Italy, in Spain, might be the result of local and temporary conditions, and might, therefore, have little more than passing importance to us who must, after all, give some thought to the kind of world we shall will to our children.

The faith in dictatorship is, however, subtly growing in lands that may never actually come under the sway of a Lenin, a Mussolini, or a Rivera.

It is a mistake, I think, to assume that the current turning towards strong leadership is so-ly a result of the chaos of the war period.

The fact is rather that men are everywhere turning towards the idea of strong leadership as a result of the complexity of the machine age.

The life of a modern industrialized state is becoming so complicated that a leadership that can act promptly and powerfully is essential.

This does not necessarily mean a personal dictator, but it does mean a strong leadership that is not hamstrung by the suspicions and by the checks and balances which democracy has up to date thrown around its leadership.

William Bennett Munro tells, in his "Invisible Government," of a walking trip through southern Ireland, where he saw many goats in the field, but always in pairs that were tied together. He asked an Irish farmer why the goats were tied in pairs.

"They're tied to each other,"
said the farmer, "so they won't wander away."

"But I don't see the point," said
Mr. Munro. "Why can't two goats wander away as well as one?"

"They can't," said the farmer,
"for one goat will never go where the other wants to go, and the result is that they just stay around where they are."

This is what democracy does to its leaders; it is so afraid of powerful leadership that it ties its leaders down until they "just stay around where they are."

Plato once called democracy
"the best form of bad government." But this complicated machine age must have good government or go down. And democracy must reconsider its policies and practices regarding leadership to the end that it may receive the blessings of dictatorship without its blights.

man" it must put "the right man" in the right place and trust his leadership.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

May Day is health day. There is health in the thought that the children of the nation, the springtime of our people are out on the grass this day dancing in the sunshine, their cheeks rivaling the blossoms of the season.

There is health in the thought of their freedom. I can see from the windows of the school a host of glad children, bare-legged, their light feet treading the grass as a spring breeze might ruffle the flowers by the brook. Singing as they dance, they wind the bright ribbons of the maypole, as a hundred years ago their fathers and mothers wound them. Yet with a difference.

There is in these children of ours a gayer, lighter, happier trend. A blither note in the song; a surer grasp in their hands; a brighter glance in their eyes. They are stronger, larger, healthier children than those who have gone before.

There is health in the thought that our children are advancing so that they lead us to better things.
The body that glows with health inspires the thoughts that form creations newest prize. The mind that is born in the body of health brings blessings and riches and triumphs unknown before. The growth of the spirit is the test of health and clearly it shines through the spirit of May.

There is health in the spirit of a people who bear healthy children, who teach health, live health that their children may know and enjoy it. Beauty springs from health.
The light in the eye of a healthy child, the color of the cheeks, the laughter of his spirit is beautiful beyond all else. The work of the healthy body is the flower of the creative spirit when it expresses the health that is in it.

Would you have your child beautiful in body and spirit? Strong in mind and body, then help him to health. Pure air, fresh green food, clear cool water, soft warm sunshine day and more play so

Time To Smile

NO BOTHER AT ALL

"At what time would you like the porter to call you?"
"There is no need, I can always wake up without calling."
"Then would you mind calling the porter—he sleeps half the morning."—Pele Mele.

AND HIS ONLY PAIR

SUNNY JIM: I see you've got your golf socks on today.
WEARY WILLIE: What do yer mean golf socks?
SUNNY JIM: Oh, just the 18-hole variety.—Table Talk, Melbourne.

BASEBALL'S LOSS

EMPLOYER: But, look here, these aren't testimonials.
OFFICE BOY (appling for position): No, sir; but I thought they

PICK HIM UP, DAD

TILLIE: Hello, John!
MILLIE: Is his name John? Your father told me his name was Mat.
TILLIE: Oh, no. Father just calls him that because he always trips over him at our front gate.—Tit-Bits.

"Aren't you going to give me a kiss, Billy?" asked the pretty visitor of the infant son of the house.
"No, I'm not."
"Oh, Billy, why?"
"Well, I saw what you did to dad when he kissed you in the hall."—Tit-Bits.

ANOTHER SCOTCH ONE

MACKIE: Eh, Jock! Money talks, ye ken, as the auld sayin' is.
MAGREGOR: Ay; but it nivr gies itself awa'.—Answers.

TRY 'N' DO IT

DOCTOR (to patient): Now just go home and relax.
PATIENT: (But, Doc, I can't. We have modern furniture.—Life.
